SUBSCRIPTION INFORMATION

The print version of the Job Information List is published four times during the academic year—in October, December, February, and April. Listings are solicited from two- and four-year colleges and universities for all issues. The cost of an online-only subscription is $35. The cost of a print-only subscription is $45 in the United States and Canada and $70 elsewhere. The cost of a subscription to both online and print versions is $65 in the United States and Canada and $90 elsewhere. The List is sent by first-class mail to subscribers in the United States and Canada and by airmail to all other areas; delivery should be shortly after the publication dates listed below. Please note, however, that these are projected dates only and are subject to change without notice. A subscription form is available at www.mla.org.

October issue	19 October 2001
December issue	16 November 2001
February issue	15 February 2002
April issue	15 April 2002

Further inquiries should be directed to Roy Chustek, Editor, Job Information List, MLA, 26 Broadway, New York, NY 10004 (646 576-5133; rchustek@mla.org).

ACCESSING THE ELECTRONIC JIL

An online version of the Job Information List is available for searching by individuals who have subscribed to the electronic JIL as well as by job seekers in ADE- and ADFL-member departments. A user name and password are required to search the database. To find your user name and password, follow these directions:

If you are an individual subscriber: If you already have a user name and password, use them. If you do not, you may retrieve them online at the MLA Web site (www.mla.org). Follow the link to the JIL page and click on the appropriate "Search" button; when the password prompt appears, scroll down and enter your e-mail address in the appropriate box and click "E-mail me." Your user name and password will be sent to the e-mail address that you specified when you subscribed. You have the option to change your user name and password whenever you choose by logging in at the JIL page and then clicking the "Subscriber Information" button at the top of the search form and following the instructions for changing your user name and password.

If you are a job seeker in an ADE- or ADFL-member department: Graduate students and faculty members in departments that are current paid members of ADE or ADFL have access to the online JIL as a benefit of their department's ADE or ADFL membership. You must access the JIL through the ADE or ADFL home pages (www.ade.org; www.adfl.org). Information on how to access the online JIL on this basis is available from your department chair.

INFORMATION FOR CANDIDATES

In This Issue

The December issue contains notices describing approximately 247 definite and possible positions. Readers should note that departments are not encouraged to repeat listings that have appeared in the October issue. If a notice published in the October JIL does not reappear in this issue, readers should not assume that the position is no longer available. The only reliable guide to application is to check the deadline reported in the original notice or a current announcement in this List.

Guide for Using the Job Information List

US and Canadian Departments

The main body of the List, arranged in alphabetical order by state, contains information on definite or possible vacancies and notices from departments that expect no vacancies but would nevertheless like to keep résumés on file.

Read through this section item by item to see which departments would welcome your letter of application or inquiry at this time. Send letters only to departments expressing an interest in a person with your qualifications. If a notice states that no vacancies are expected but that the department would like to maintain a file of prospective candidates, you must decide in each case whether it is worthwhile to write.

Comparative Literature and Linguistics and ESL Sections

Notices in these fields have been separated out from the main body of the issue and placed under the appropriate heading.

General Advice for Candidates

Be sure that your dossier (transcript, letters of recommendation, and other material) is ready to be sent out by your placement bureau to any department that requests it. Prepare and duplicate a one-page vita sheet to enclose with any letters of application or inquiry. In your letter of application, it is probably wise to express a willingness to be interviewed at the department's convenience. Professional meetings provide a convenient opportunity for such interviews (see MLA convention information on p. iii).

While it is important to begin to search for a position immediately, you should be aware that hiring goes on all year. Surveys indicate that only about half of all English and foreign language departments have begun recruiting by the end of December and that the majority of departments do not complete the recruiting process until spring, in some cases until summer.

Bear in mind that the candidate who has not limited his or her search for a new position to a particular geographical area or kind of institution is most likely to find a position. Do not discount the small colleges where one often has the opportunity to teach a wide selection of courses to students of varied backgrounds.

Notice on Tenure Policies

The Modern Language Association recommends that department administrators and their representatives inform candidates before or during the interview about prospects for tenure in the specific position under consideration and about the tenure policies and practices in their departments and institutions. If the information is not offered, candidates are urged to inquire about these policies.

Acknowledgment of Applications

Acting on a recommendation from the MLA Delegate Assembly, the MLA Executive Council has adopted a policy calling for departments to acknowledge all applications for announced positions either by letter or by self-addressed postcards provided by applicants.

MLA Policy on the Reimbursement of Job Seekers

The following policies were recommended by the Delegate Assembly in December 1999 and approved by the MLA Executive Council in February 2000.

It is MLA policy that:

- Departments that require that job applicants send their application materials by express carrier reimburse those applicants for the cost of such shipment; and
- Departments that require multiple copies of writing samples and other application materials from job applicants reimburse applicants for the cost of duplicating their writing samples and other materials; and
- Departments that require books will return them to the applicant; and
- Departments that invite job applicants for on-campus interviews reimburse those applicants who accept such invitations for the costs of travel and accommodations incurred when visiting the campus for interviews.

MLA Guide to the Job Search

The MLA Guide to the Job Search (New York: MLA, 1997) contains much useful information and advice to assist candidates in organizing their job searches confidently and competently. Copies of the Guide are available to JIL subscribers for $5.00 and no shipping and handling charge. The regular price of the Guide is $10.00 ($8.00 for MLA members), plus $3.00 for shipping and handling. To order a copy, write, enclosing a check, to MLA Member and Customer Services, 26 Broadway, 3rd floor, New York, NY 10004-1789.

MLA ANNUAL CONVENTION

The Annual Convention of the Modern Language Association will be held in New Orleans, 27–30 December 2001. The Job Information Center will be located in the International Ballroom, Mezzanine level, Fairmont Hotel, for both English and foreign languages. Job candidates, departmental administrators, and representatives who wish to use the facilities of the Job Information Center must be registered for the convention. The following services will be provided:

- (1) Interviewer's Sign-In Desk for Departments. Departmental administrators or representatives who plan to hold job interviews during the convention, whether in their own hotel rooms or in the Interview Area of the Job Information Center, should sign in (name, institution, hotel, and room number) at the Job Information Center, so that candidates with whom they have set up interviews will be able to locate them. Although an interviewer's name may appear in "Who's Where," for security reasons hotel switchboards will not give out guests' room numbers—and are in any case extremely busy. A brief stop at the sign-in desk by a thoughtful interviewer can save much confusion and worry for candidates. The sign-in desk will be open from 11:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. on 27 December, from 9:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. on 28 December, from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on 29 December, and from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon on 30 December. There will be no telephone interview location service.
- (2) Counseling Service. The Job Information Center counseling service affords job seekers the opportunity to discuss individual employment problems with experienced department administrators. While counselors cannot help candidates obtain interviews, they can and will offer objective, concrete advice on such matters as the appropriate content and presentation of vitae and letters of application, the kinds of institutions to which candidates might most profitably apply, and realistic approaches to job interviews. Counselors will be on hand at the center to speak with interested candidates from 10:15 a.m. until 5:15 p.m. on 28 and 29 December. Appointments can be arranged through the staff member on duty in the interview area of the job center.
- (3) Interview Area. For the convenience of departmental representatives and candidates, there will be an interview area for English and foreign languages within the Job Information Center. Interviewers who wish to use this area should schedule their own interviews either by letter before the convention or by leaving messages at the message center. Table assignments in the interview area, which will be open from 12:00 noon until 8:00 p.m. on 27 December, from 9:00 a.m. until 8:00 p.m. on 28 December, from 9:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. on 29 December, and from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon on 30 December, will be given to departmental representatives on a first-come, first-served basis. MLA staff members will be on duty in the area to assist interviewers and candidates.
- (4) Vacancy Notices. A list of job openings received too late to be included in the December Job Information List will be posted on bulletin boards in the Job Information Center. Departmental representatives who have last-minute vacancies should submit detailed descriptions of these to an MLA staff member in the center, who will see that they are posted on the boards. Such notices may also appear in the February Job Information List so that candidates who do not attend the convention will have an opportunity to apply.
- (5) Message Center. Open from 12:00 noon until 8:00 p.m. on 27 December, from 9:00 a.m. until 8:00 p.m. on 28 December, from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on 29 December, and from 9:00 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. on 30 December, the message center will help candidates and interviewers who have corresponded before the convention to establish specific interview times and places. The message center will not be useful to those who leave messages at random for persons who may not even be in attendance at the convention. Such messages are not picked up, and they serve only to defeat the purpose of the center.

While every effort will be made to assist candidates and interviewers in the Job Information Center, it should be noted that the MLA does not have the facilities for introducing candidates and interviewers who have not corresponded prior to the convention.

THERE IS VERY LITTLE OPEN INTERVIEWING AT THE CONVENTION. JOB CANDIDATES WHO DO NOT HAVE PREARRANGED INTERVIEWS SHOULD NOT PLAN TO ATTEND FOR THE SOLE PURPOSE OF SEEKING EMPLOYMENT.

LIST OF ADMINISTRATIONS CENSURED

BY THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS

Note: The following list and accompanying explanatory note are reprinted from Academe by permission of the American Association of University Professors and in accordance with the action of the MLA Delegate Assembly.

Investigations by the American Association of University Professors of the administrations of the institutions listed below show that, as evidenced by a past violation, they are not observing the generally recognized principles of academic freedom and tenure endorsed by this Association, the Association of American Colleges and Universities, and more than 150 other professional and educational organizations. The 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure may be found in the May-June 1990 issue of Academe.

This list is published for the purpose of informing Association members, the profession at large, and the public that unsatisfactory conditions of academic freedom and tenure have been found to prevail at these institutions. Names are placed on or removed from this censure list by vote of the Association's Annual Meeting.

Placing the name of an institution on this list does not mean that censure is visited either upon the whole of the institution or upon the faculty, but specifically upon its present administration. The term "administration" includes the administrative officers and the governing board of the institution. This censure does not affect the eligibility of nonmembers for membership in the Association, nor does it affect the individual rights of members at the institution in question.

Members of the Association have often considered it to be their duty, in order to indicate their support of the principles violated, to refrain from accepting appointment to an institution so long as it remains on the censure list. Since circumstances differ widely from case to case, the Association does not assert that such an unqualified obligation exists for its members; it does urge that, before accepting appointments, they seek information on present conditions of academic freedom and tenure from the Association's Washington office and prospective departmental colleagues. The Association leaves it to the discretion of the individual, possessed of the facts, to make the proper decision.

The censured administrations, with dates of censuring, are listed below. Reports were published as indicated by the Bulletin or Academe citations in parentheses following each listing. Reference should also be made to "Developments Relating to Censure by the Association" and to the "Report of Committee A," each of which appears annually in Academe.

African & Black Diaspora Studies, Assistant Professor, Tenure Track 2508
<http://www.depaul.edu/~dpulas/faculty/0203ads.html>

Well known for its reputation for excellence and as the largest Catholic University in the United States, DePaul University has been educating Chicago for over 100 years. We are soliciting applications from candidates whose area of specialization is African Diaspora Studies.

We are seeking a candidate whose work explores the ways in which power, identity, gender, history, race, and the idea of diaspora itself work to create and sustain the African diaspora. The successful candidate's scholarship and research program will explore the processes and forms that link or differentiate the experiences of those in the African diaspora. Candidates will be expected to teach a variety of courses on peoples of African descent and in DePaul's general education program. DePaul's proposed new major in African and Black Diaspora Studies offers a program of undergraduate study that enables students to critically examine the experiences of Black peoples of African descent in Africa and the diaspora through the lenses of culture, history, social movements, philosophy, and politics. Additional information may be found at <http://www.depaul.edu/~dpulas/faculty/0203ads.html>.

Applications, including a current curriculum vitae, letters of recommendation, and a writing sample, should be sent to: Dr. Darrell Moore, Search Committee, c/o Center for Culture and History of Black Diaspora, 2320 N. Kenmore Avenue, Chicago, IL 60614-3298. Review of applications will begin on January 7, 2002 and continue until an appointment is made. Applications from women and other underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply. DePaul University is committed to diversity and equality in education and employment.

<http://www.gen.umn.edu>

The University of Minnesota's General College announces tenured and tenure-track positions to teach writing or literature at the Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor levels beginning August 2002. General College is widely recognized as a model access program that provides a lower-division, developmental general studies curriculum and serves pre-major students who do not meet the admission profiles of the highly selective freshman-admitting colleges in the university. Position duties include maintaining an exemplary research profile in developmental education (including access policy or multicultural studies), writing proposals for funding to support research and service projects, teaching courses in area of discipline (the normal teaching load is four courses per year), and providing college and university service. Applicants must have a doctorate by the date of appointment, a research background and interest in access or in the undergraduate curriculum from a perspective that might inform developmental education (or for an advanced assistant professor or above, a strong-rank-appropriate record or research and publication relating to developmental education or access policy), and evidence of effective teaching of lower-division students. To apply, send a current vita, three recent publications or manuscripts, recent syllabi, three recent letters of reference, and a letter of application that specifically addresses research and publication plans in developmental education, access policy, or multicultural studies, and describes work in progress. Send materials to the Developmental Education Search, General College, University of Minnesota, 240 Appleby Hall, 128 Pleasant St. SE, Minneapolis, MN 55455. Review of applications will continue until positions are filled. For more information on the college, view the college website at www.gen.umn.edu. E. Desmond Lee Professorship in African/African-American Studies 2533

The University of Missouri-St. Louis is pleased to announce the establishment of and a search to fill the E. Desmond Lee Professorship in African/African-American Studies. The professor will be expected to exhibit, in his or her scholarship, both intellectual rigor and accessibility to a wide audience. The professor will teach courses and conduct research on African and/or the African-American experience. The primary (two-thirds time appointment) departmental home of the successful candidate is open.

Working with the Center for International Studies, where the professorship holder will have a one-third appointment, the professor will be expected to work with other faculty to develop a program in African and African-American Studies at the University, as well as programs for community audiences about Africa and the linkages of persons of African heritage to the African continent. We expect the professorship holder to be active in seeking external funds to support these programs. The professor will also collaborate with holders of other international professorships and Center programs to develop a comprehensive international program.

Qualifications: Candidates must have a distinguished record of publication, teaching, program development, and community outreach.

Rank and Salary: The appointment will be made at the full professor level. Salary will be commensurate with the qualifications of the candidate; endowment funds will be used to support the research and outreach functions of the professor.

Applications: We anticipate the appointment will be made for Fall 2002. Review of materials will begin on January 15, 2002, though nominations and applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Applicants should include a letter describing how their background and experience prepare them for this important and innovative position. Applications should also include a curriculum vitae and names, addresses and telephone numbers of four references. (Candidates will be notified before references are contacted.)

Please address application materials to: E. Kenyon Dissertation Fellowship

<http://www.kenyon.edu>

Kenyon College Dissertation/Teaching Fellowship for Minority Scholars One of the most significant challenges confronting small liberal arts colleges in the United States today is how to increase the relatively small number of minority faculty teaching at such institutions. Creating a diverse and representative group of teachers benefits students, faculty, and administrators alike, by enriching the nature of the education experience for all. We recognize, though, that young scholars who are members of underrepresented groups frequently choose to pursue their careers as teachers and scholars at research universities rather than at small liberal arts colleges. In order to encourage such scholars to consider college rather than university teaching, Kenyon College offers the Kenyon College Dissertation/Teaching Fellowship for Minority Scholars. The program aims at minority scholars in the final stages of their doctoral work who need only to finish the dissertation to complete requirements for the Ph.D. We hope the experience of living and working for a year at Kenyon will encourage these fellows to consider a liberal arts college as a place to begin their careers as teachers and scholars. Kenyon will provide a stipend of $32,500, plus health benefits, housing, and a small moving allowance. The College will also provide an allowance to cover travel to conferences or for consultation with the dissertation director. Kenyon will assist the Fellow in finding college housing. The Fellow will be provided an office, a networked computer, and secretarial support services. Faculty colleagues at Kenyon recognize and embrace the opportunity to welcome and mentor new faculty members. The Kenyon Fellow is expected to write the dissertation and to teach one course each semester, usually in the Fellow's general research area. Fellows are also expected to offer a College lecture or Departmental seminar on the dissertation topic at some point during the academic year in residence. Kenyon College assumes that the Fellow will participate in the intellectual life of his/her home department, as well as in the broader cultural life of the College. Our primary expectation, however, and the main focus of this fellowship, is the completion of the dissertation. Eligibility to apply for the Kenyon College Dissertation/Teaching Fellowship for Minority Scholars is limited to: •Citizens or nationals of the United States at the time of application. •Members of the following minority groups: Alaskan Natives (Eskimo or Aleut) Native American Indians Black/African Americans Mexican Americans/Chicano Native Pacific Islanders (Polynesian or Micronesian) Puerto Ricans •Individuals who are enrolled in a research-based PhD program in one of the following fields: African and African American, American Studies, Anthropology, Art History, Asian Studies, Biology, Classics, Dance, Drama, Economics, English, Environmental Studies, History, Humanities, International Studies, Math, Modern Languages and Literature, Music, Philosophy, Political Science, Psychology, Religious Studies, Sociology, and Women's and Gender Studies. •Individuals who aspire to a teaching and research career. •Persons who have not yet earned a doctoral degree at any time and in any field. Please send a letter of application, vita, and three letters of references (including the dissertation advisor) to the Office of the Associate Provost, Kenyon College, Gambier, OH 43022. The Search Committee will begin consideration of the dossiers on December 3, 2001. Kenyon College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and, in particular, encourages the applications of women and minority candidates. [R]

Undergraduate Writing Center Director

We seek a senior specialist in Rhetoric and Composition to direct the newly-established Undergraduate Writing Center and to support writing-in-the-disciplines courses. The Director will hold tenure as a faculty member in the Department of English, will be assigned an administrative appointment (year-round) and will report to the Associate Provost for Undergraduate Programs and Academic Services. In addition to directing the Writing Center, the director will work with an advisory committee to develop and implement a writing-in-the-disciplines program.

The university-wide Undergraduate Writing Center, supported by student fees, is centrally located in the main campus library. The Director's duties will include budgeting, training and supervision of support staff, working to support writing-intensive course tutoring, maintaining an on-line writing center, and working with a campus-wide Advisory Board. Further, the Director may expect to raise funds, to open satellite centers, to host writing-in-the-disciplines-workshops, to invite and support research in writing, and to represent the Center to the university and to the public.

Texas A&M University has adopted a graduation requirement of two writing-intensive courses, preferably to be taken in the student's major. The Director will provide leadership for the implementation of the new "w" requirement, and will design support for faculty as they develop and teach writing-intensive courses. Texas A&M undergraduates write for many other courses, from First-Year English and Technical Writing, to upper division courses across the curriculum. The Writing Center will serve student needs throughout the university.

Qualifications: The applicant should be tenurable in the Department of English at Texas A&M University with the rank of Associate Professor or Professor. We seek a scholar with credentials in Rhetoric and Composition, or related fields, a distinguished record of publication, teaching, and service at the national level, and expertise in the administration of a writing center, writing program, or writing-in-the-disciplines program. Experience in technical/scientific writing, computers and writing, English as a Second Language, or literacy studies would further strengthen candidates' qualifications. The Writing Center Director should demonstrate superior communication skills, flexibility, and vision regarding the teaching of literacy in the university.

We will begin reviewing applications after November 15, and will be interviewing at the MLA. The search will remain open until a suitable candidate is found. Candidates should be prepared to assume their duties by 15 August, 2002.

Texas A&M University is an equal opportunity employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Salary: Rank and salary will depend upon qualifications, assuming a rank range from mid-level Associate to Full Professor.

Procedure: Applicants should submit a letter of application describing their academic and administrative background; a statement of their vision of an undergraduate university writing center; a curriculum vitae; and the names of three references to: Dr. Richard L. Carlson, Department of Geology and Geophysics, and, Dr. C. Jan Swearingen, Department of English, Co-Chairs, Office of the Associate Provost for Undergraduate Programs and Academic Services, Texas A&M University, 203 Jack K. Assistant Professor, Linguistics & Heritage Languages 2513

Assistant Professor: Linguistics and Heritage Languages The Department of Linguistics at the University of California, San Diego invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in the linguistics of heritage languages. The term 'heritage language' denotes a language other than English that is associated with an individual's ethnic or cultural background, and a 'heritage speaker' is someone who speaks or merely understands a language (other than English) that was spoken at home. This position is part of a new interdisplinary initiative (California Cultures in Comparative Perspectives) sponsored the Social Sciences and Humanities and addressing ethnic, cultural, and linguistic diversity in California. This position recognizes heritage language studies as an emerging new field that intersects with theory of language learning, sociology, ethnic studies, and cultural anthropology, and provides a natural meeting point for all these disciplines. The successful applicant should be a qualified linguist with a strong background in linguistic theory and a research program concentrating on issues of language loss, attrition, acquisition, maintenance/preservation of heritage languages, or variation among heritage language speakers/populations in California. Possible languages include but are not limited to: Arabic, Cambodian, Cantonese, Hmong, Japanese, Korean, Native American languages of California, Pashto, Persian, Slavic languages, Somali, Spanish, Tagalog, Vietnamese. The successful applicant would be expected to develop and help direct a program in the teaching and study of heritage languages and their respective populations. The candidates should have the Ph.D. in linguistics at the time of appointment. If you would like to be interviewed at the meeting of the Linguistic Society of America in San Francisco, send CV, statement of research and teaching interests, evidence of teaching, and names, addresses, e-mail addresses, and phone numbers of three references by December 17, 2001 to the address below. Otherwise, the deadline for applications is January 12, 2002. CC Recruitment Committee Department of Linguistics (0108), Univ. Calif. San Diego 9500 Gilman Drive, La Jolla CA 92093-0108 Salaries are in strict accordance with UC pay scales. If a non-citizen, state immigration status. UCSD is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to excellence through diversity. Applicants are invited to preview campus diversity resources and programs at the campus website for Diversity (<http://diversity.ucsd.edu/>). Dean, School of Critical Studies

<http://www.calarts.edu>

The California Institute of the Arts is seeking a Dean for the School of Critical Studies. CalArts is known for its faculty of distinguished artists and scholars, its outstanding students, and its multidisciplinary approach to arts education. A private, non-profit, fully accredited arts college of approximately 1200 students, CalArts is composed of six Schools: Art, Critical Studies, Dance, Film/Video, Music, and Theater. There is also an active interschool program. The Dean of Critical Studies works with the faculty and deans of other Schools to develop a general education curriculum for the entire Institute in which criticality and creativity are fully integrated. The School offers a unique MFA Writing Program based on this philosophy. Graduate students are encouraged to resist traditional writing categories and experiment across genres. The Dean of Critical Studies will play a role in developing CalArts' position as a leading cultural institution in L.A. by helping to establish a public program of lectures, seminars, conferences, and events at the Roy and Edna Disney CalArts Theater and exhibition space (REDCAT) scheduled to open in fall 2003 in downtown Los Angeles. Candidates should demonstrate an innovative approach to the relations between contemporary arts (performing and visual) and critical theory and should have a distinguished career in the Arts, Humanities, Cultural Studies, or Social Sciences with significant publications and administrative experience suitable to a senior level appointment. A Ph.D is preferred. Applications will be reviewed beginning January 15, 2002 and will be accepted till the position is filled. Starting date: September 2002. Salary and benefits competitive. Multiple-year contracts negotiable. <http://www.cdh.ucla.edu>

The University of California, Los Angeles invites applications/nominations for Director of the Center for Digital Humanities (CDH) to begin July 1, 2002 at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor. The Director of the Center reports directly to the Dean of Humanities. The Director will be appointed to an appropriate academic department in the Humanities and his or her appointment will be split 50% teaching and research and 50% administrative. The Director will provide both academic and administrative leadership for the Center and will be expected to take the lead on developing partnerships for research and teaching emphasizing technological innovation. The Director will also be expected to develop a network of national and international partnerships as a means for reaching the goals of the Center.

i. The Center for Digital Humanities. The Center is expected to become a national and international leader in the application of and interpretation of technology in the Humanities. As part of its mission, the Center seeks to advance the research, teaching and public service mission of the Humanities Division through the use of computing technology and new media. The Center coordinates and supports faculty research and teaching projects that employ these technologies. It helps focus such projects, locates personnel and funding, discovers partners both inside and outside the university, and manages the projects over time. In addition to project and course development, the Center is also responsible for E-campus, the instructional Web sites that offer on-line enhancements to the 600 undergraduate courses offered each quarter by the Humanities Division. The Center also oversees the IT infrastructure for the Division.

ii. Qualifications of Director. The successful candidate must currently be in a tenured or tenure-track position and have a record of research and teaching demonstrating national and international prominence in the application of digital technologies in a Humanities discipline. The candidate must have a clear vision as to the academic direction the Center should take. The candidate must also have demonstrated success in securing and administering extramural support (grants and contracts). Significant administrative experience (departmental chair or equivalent) is an advantage.

iii. Applications. Applications should include a cover letter, vita, statement of research & teaching interests, and selected publications. Applicants should also arrange for at least 3 letters of recommendation to be sent. The address for applications is: Professor Timothy R. Tangherlini, Chair, Center for Digital Humanities Search Committee, Center for Digital Humanities, Kinsey Hall B71, UCLA, 405 Hilgard Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90095-1499. Review of Applications will begin December 3, 2001 and continue until position is filled. Position subject to final budgetary approval. UCLA is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply.

Knight Postdoctoral Fellowships 2366

http://www.arts.cornell.edu/knight_institute

Cornell's Institute for Writing in the Disciplines announces two Knight Postdoctoral Fellowships for 2002-2003. The fellowships offer $34,000 support to two recent Ph.D.s in the physical sciences, the social sciences, or the humanities. While each Knight Fellow will spend most of the year in research and writing for a proposed project, in the fall a fellow also teaches, in a subject of his or her own design, a First-Year Writing Seminar, and audits a graduate seminar on the teaching of writing in the disciplines. In the spring, the fellow works with the professor of an upper-division course in (or close to) his or her discipline. The upper-level course will be one that is part of Writing in the Majors: courses in this program aim to improve the teaching of their subjects through intensified uses of language. Applicants should submit CV, research proposal (1000-3000 words), one-page abstract of the research proposal (250 words), two-page writing seminar proposal (500 words), writing sample, and three letters of recommendation by January 15, 2002. Preference will be given to proposals that focus on writing, disciplinarity, and disciplinary cultures. Cross-disciplinary projects are especially welcome. Announcement of awards: March 1, 2002. AA/EOE. Send applications to: Knight Postdoctoral Fellowship, c/o Professor Jonathan Monroe, Associate Dean and Director of Writing Programs, College of Arts and Sciences, 159 Goldwin Smith Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14853-3201 [R]

Andrew W. Mellon Postdoctoral Fellowship 2424

<http://www.humnet.ucla.edu/humnet/consortium/>

The Humanities Consortium of the University of California, Los Angeles, will appoint 3 Andrew W. Mellon Postdoctoral Fellows for a 2-year tenure beginning in the fall of 2002. Fellows must have earned their doctorates after September 1, 1999, and must have the doctorate in hand by September 1, 2002. The Fellowship provides a stipend of $35,000 per year. All Fellows are required to be in residence and to participate in the Consortium's Mellon Seminar and Conference. Fellows will also teach, through relevant departments or programs, 1 course in their first year and 2 in their second, and will be expected to participate in the intellectual life of these programs. One Fellow will be appointed in each of three historical periods: A.D. 600 to 1600; 1600 to 1800; and 1800 to the present. These Fellowships are part of a 3-year program, 2001-2004, devoted to the theme "Nations and Identities." The topic for 2002-2003 is "Knowledges and Technologies." (The topic for 2001-2002 was "Between Culture and State"; the topic for 2003-2004 will be "Minorities, Majorities, and the Question of Civil Society.") By "knowledges and technologies" we mean first the network of relations linking science or technology, conceiving these very broadly as any collective strategy for controlling nature, to various modes of knowledge in the formation of national identity. For example, since Carleton Hayes's pioneering work on the nation in the 1920s, one fundamental nexus for the study of nations and technologies has been the rise of print culture. We may be at another such historical juncture, with the rise of global communications networks that more readily cross, and potentially challenge, national boundaries. But "knowledges and technologies" also refers to the way knowledge is produced along disciplinary lines within different cultural, religious, and national communities. Specific divisions of intellectual labor within knowledge-producing classes may have contributed to the emergence of the modern nation-state, from Medieval distinctions between ecclesiastical and secular law, to the increasing formalization of science within Western humanism, to the 18th-century rise of cultural autonomy in capitalist civil society. At the same time, non-Western writings from Mohandas K. Gandhi to Ashis Nandy link an opposition to Western technology and a suspicion of Western forms of knowledge to a resistance to the Western nation-state. Market-driven technology, scientific knowledge, national identity, and the nation-state would seem to be so intimately wedded to one another that it would be difficult to separate them. But what, finally, is this connection all about, and does the new "globalism" alter it? Applicants should address these or related issues. There is no application form. Applicants should send a cover letter, a description (no more than 1500 words) of a scholarly project relevant to the year's topic, a CV, and three letters of recommendation by February 1, 2002, to: Mellon Fellowship Program, UCLA Humanities Consortium, 310 Royce Hall, Los Angeles, CA 90095-1461. For more information, please contact Mark Pokorski at (310) 206-0559 or via e-mail at mpok@humnet.ucla.edu.

MODELING INTERDISCIPLINARY INQUIRY: A POSTDOCTORAL PROGRAM IN THE HUMANITIES AND SOCIAL SCIENCES Washington University announces the second year of an Andrew W. Mellon Foundation Postdoctoral Fellowship Program designed to encourage interdisciplinary scholarship and teaching across the humanities and social sciences. In September 2001, the Program will bring to Washington University two recent Ph.D.s who are pursuing their own advanced training and participating in the University's ongoing interdisciplinary programs and seminars. The University now announces the second year of competition for Modeling Interdisciplinary Inquiry and to invite applications for this program. The second-year Postdoctoral Fellow will receive a two-year appointment with a stipend beginning at $36,050 per year. Postdoctoral Fellows have an opportunity to plan and pursue their own continuing research in association with a senior faculty member at Washington University, and, over the course of their two-year appointment, to teach three undergraduate courses in their home discipline and to collaborate each spring semester in leading a seminar in the theory and methods of interdisciplinary research. There is no application form, but further information is available at the address below and on the Web at http://www.artsci.wustl.edu/~szwicker/Mellon_Postdoctoral_Program.html. Applicants should submit a cover letter, a description of their research program (no more than three single-spaced pages), a brief proposal for the seminar in theory and methods, a curriculum vitae, and three letters of recommendation. All materials should be submitted in paper copy. Submit materials by December 1, 2001, to Steven Zwicker, Department of English, Washington University, Campus Box 1122, One Brookings Drive, St. Louis, MO, 63130. Phone: 314-935-4405. Email: szwicker@artsci.wustl.edu Washington University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Employment eligibility verification requested upon hire. [R]
