Director of the Writing Center

00991

Cleveland State University invites applications for the position of Director of the Writing Center. The Writing Center's major functions are to support the University's Freshman Composition program, to provide instruction and practice in the teaching of composition for baccalaureate and graduate students, to support the University's baccalaureate Writing Across the Curriculum requirement, and to interface with the Cleveland business community in order to provide professional writing instruction. New developments on campus that the Director would need to address include computer-assisted instruction and a demand for technical writing. The Writing Center is staffed with graduate student assistants. Cleveland State University is a comprehensive public university located in downtown Cleveland with over 16,000 students and a wide range of baccalaureate and master's degree programs plus doctoral programs in six selected fields. Our students are demographically diverse and include a significant percentage of commuter, part-time, international, and/or nontraditional re-entry students. Our geographical location lends itself to opportunities for collaboration with Cleveland businesses and other institutions. MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. in English with composition and/or rhetoric as a focus; experience teaching composition; demonstrable research interest in composition and/or rhetoric; evidence of potential to provide leadership in the fields of computer-assisted instruction and technical writing. Experience with Writing Across the Curriculum is preferred. SALARY AND RANK: 9-month contract; salary competitive, commensurate with experience; summer administrative stipend and teaching are available. This is an administrative staff position; however, the director is a member of the English department and can apply for adjunct faculty status. APPLICATION: Please submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and names of three persons to be contacted as references to: Dr. Earl Anderson, Chair, Search Committee, Department of English, Cleveland State University, Cleveland, OH 44115. The Search Committee will receive and review applications until the position is filled. Inquiries: r.hammond@csuohio.edu Cleveland State University is an AA/EOE committed to nondiscrimination.
