Review of applications begins May 29, 2001. Applications will continue to be accepted until final candidates are chosen.

Salary: Determined by degrees and years of relevant experience, on the college's faculty scale. This position is on a three-year renewable contract, and includes an excellent state benefits package.

Position Purpose: The Evergreen State College is embarking on an aggressive initiative to integrate writing and critical reading skills in interdisciplinary coordinated studies programs across the campus. The Writing Center Director will report to a Dean and provide leadership in this endeavor and manage the overall operations of the Center. In this 12-month per year administrative faculty position, the director will collaborate with faculty teams on their plans to integrate writing and critical reading support directly into academic programs, and assist faculty and staff in the design and delivery of credit generating 'stand alone' special writing workshops. This includes assuming a leadership role in creating summer institutes that train and orient the faculty in the teaching of relevant writing for a variety of disciplines. The director will recruit and supervise student writing tutors and oversee an ongoing tutor training and support program. The director must also stay abreast of the latest research on writing anxiety and on strategies to address it, maintain a repository of useful pedagogical examples and exercises for integrating various forms of writing into a variety of different disciplinary programs, and manage the drop-in writing and critical reading assistance service for students.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: Master's degree in English or related field, and three years teaching experience in a diverse student population.

DESIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

- Ph.D. or Ed.D.
- Three years management experience in a college-level Writing Center.

For more information and complete application instructions, call 360-867-5367, or email: jobline@evergreen.edu.

Committed to equal opportunity and operating with an Affirmative Action Plan, The Evergreen State College is working to build a diverse faculty and staff. University Writing Prog, 255 S Central Campus Dr, Rm 3700,
Salt Lake City, UT 84112

Director, University Writing Program

3004

<http://www.utah.edu/uwp/>

Search re-opened. The University Writing Program seeks to appoint a director, beginning July 2002, with a joint appointment in the Department of English or Department of Communication, depending on the appointee's fields and interests. Applicants should have the ability and experience to administer a program and a scholarly record warranting appointment at the rank of associate or full professor with tenure. Fields are literacy studies, pedagogy, empirical research, or technology, though we would prefer a combination of technology and one of the others. Candidates' records should show the applicability of their research field to writing. We expect versatility in writing curricula, from basic to WAC, and a potential contribution to graduate programs. The University Writing Program is an autonomous unit in the College of Humanities, responsible for undergraduate writing courses, cross-curricular writing, and a Ph.D. program in Rhetoric and Composition shared with three departments. Its current faculty members represent various branches of composition study: pedagogy, critical discourse analysis, cultural studies, and disciplinary rhetoric. Applicants should direct a letter and vita to Thomas Huckin, Director, University Writing Program, 255 South Central Campus Drive, Room 3700, Salt Lake City, Utah 84112-0495. Deadline: 15 October 2001. The University of Utah is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages nominations and applications from women and minorities and provides reasonable accommodation to the known disabilities of applicants and employees. All applications will be acknowledged.

Vilas Professor of English

<http://www.uwm.edu/Dept/English/>

The Vilas Professorship is the most prestigious endowed chair in the University of Wisconsin System. Its purpose is to afford generous research and travel support to a scholar who will continue to produce significant and vital research and publication, and who will provide leadership to the department, college, and university.

In seeking to fill the Vilas Professorship, previously held by Professor Ihab Hassan, the Department of English prefers a specialist in modern and contemporary literature, although the field is less important than the qualities the candidate will bring to the department and the university community. The individual must have an active research agenda within the humanities and will be asked to assume a leadership role in the development of international programs and partnerships. A commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is essential.

Screening of all candidates will begin May 10, 2001 and continue until a qualified candidate is chosen. Please visit our WEBSITE at <http://www.uwm.edu/Dept/English/> for further information on the status of the search. Female and minority applicants are strongly encouraged to apply.

Applications and nominations should be addressed to: Professor Michael Noonan, Chair, Department of English, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Box 413, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53201.
