Zayed University, a premier university in the United Arab Emirates, is an innovative institution based on an international model of higher education. With 600 faculty and staff serving 3,500 students across two main campuses—as well as satellite locations—in Abu Dhabi and Dubai, the University prepares graduates to become leaders in government, business, civil society, and family life. The University expects its graduates to be fully bilingual in English and Arabic, proficient in the use of computing technology, and strong in quantitative and research skills. The language of business and instruction at the University is English.

Zayed University is fully accredited in the U.A.E. and is a candidate for accreditation with the Middle States Commission on Higher Education in the U.S.A.

The United Arab Emirates is a progressive country known for its high standard of living and its safe and family-friendly environment.

The Opportunity

Zayed University is seeking faculty able to contribute to the English composition and writing-in-the-disciplines curriculum. Experience in working with second-language learners or in international contexts is highly regarded. Successful candidates will be assigned to the University's new campus for men, a program housed in the town of Shahama near the city of Abu Dhabi.

The Requirements

Successful candidates will have:

- Ph.D. in Rhetoric and Composition, Applied Linguistics, English, TESOL, or a related field preferred. Experienced M.A. candidates will be considered.

- Relevant baccalaureate-level teaching experience and active research interests.
- Experience with multi-section university-level language development courses.
- Experience with writing-across-the-curriculum programs, assessment protocols, writing-in-the-disciplines, English Centers, ESL students, or speech labs desirable.

The Benefits

The University's benefits package is highly attractive, with competitive salaries free of tax in the United Arab Emirates, housing, a furniture allowance, annual vacation airline tickets for the employee and immediate family, educational subsidies for children and subsidized healthcare for the employee.

To Apply

Visit our Web site www.zu.ac.ae. In addition to completing the online application form, attach a cover letter and a current CV, the names and contact details of three referees, a statement of your undergraduate teaching philosophy, and a statement of your scholarly and creative interests, particularly as they might apply to the Middle East, and as to how they might involve undergraduate students.

<http://www.krieger.jhu.edu/research/mellon.html>

Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences announces the Andrew W. Mellon Postdoctoral Fellowship in the Humanities for 2009-2010 Concepts of Diaspora

The Krieger School of Arts and Sciences is currently accepting applications for the Andrew W. Mellon Postdoctoral Fellowship in the Humanities for three fellows, who will be appointed to two-year terms beginning July 1, 2009.

The Mellon Postdoctoral Program encourages innovative teaching, enriches educational and research opportunities in the humanities, and fosters the career development of a select group of promising young scholars. Fully one-third of the Krieger School's faculty is engaged in humanities departments, where scholarly and pedagogical excellence has been the standard since the university's founding in 1876.

Each fellowship carries a departmental affiliation and the responsibility of teaching one course per semester. The initial stipend is $48,000, with an additional $1,000 available for research and travel expenses. Health insurance and a one-time moving allowance of $1,500 are also provided. Appointments are for one year, renewable for a second year.

Humanities departments and an interdisciplinary committee of Krieger school faculty members will review applications and select fellows for 2009-2010. Fellows will be selected based primarily on applicants' scholarship and promise, as well as their abilities to fill research and teaching needs within the university's humanities departments.

Requirements:

Applicants should have completed the Ph.D. in one of the following fields: History, English, History of Art, Musicology, Classics, Anthropology, German and Romance Languages and Literatures, Comparative Literature, History of Science and Technology, Near Eastern Studies, no earlier than June 30, 2004 and no later than June 30th, 2009. To apply, send a letter of interest, full curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation and an academic statement that includes research and teaching proposals to: Mellon Postdoctoral Fellowship Committee, c/o Center for Africana Studies, Johns Hopkins University, Greenhouse 118, 3400 N. Charles Street, Baltimore, MD. 21218

Applications must be postmarked by Friday, November 14, 2008. Incomplete applications are not considered for the fellowship. It is the applicant's responsibility to make sure their application is received in full.

Women and underrepresented minorities are especially encouraged to apply. The Johns Hopkins University is an Affirmative Acting/Equal Opportunity Employer. Please visit www.jhu.edu/ksas for more information.

LSU IS AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY/EQUAL ACCESS-EMPLOYER [R]

New York U

Gallatin School of Individualized Study, 715 Broadway New York NY 10003

Class Advisor 3376

<http://www.nyu.edu/hr/jobs/apply>

The Gallatin School of Individualized Study at New York University seeks an experienced academic administrator with University-level teaching experience for the position of Class Adviser. The Class Adviser will be responsible for advising a class cohort of Gallatin students with the goal of enhancing their academic experience by fostering the development of an intellectual community and providing timely advice concerning Gallatin's academic program and degree requirements.

The Class Adviser will work collaboratively with students' primary academic advisers to provide students with information and guidance on NYU's variety of academic programs, study abroad, fellowship opportunities and pre-law and pre-health advising. He or she will advise students regarding registration procedures, course prerequisites, and policies on academic standing and will monitor students' academic degree progress and performance with careful attention to students at risk. Working as a team with the Director of Student Affairs and the Director of Advising, the Class Adviser will help organize orientations and graduation, and class and school-wide academic events. The incumbent will also teach one course a year, oversee student independent studies and tutorials, and serve as primary adviser to a small group of students with similar academic interests.

The ideal candidate will have a deep knowledge of university education, a background in interdisciplinary study, and strong teaching experience. A commitment to alternative forms of learning and to individual mentoring of students is also essential. A Ph.D, JD or other terminal degree preferred, ABD considered; 3 years relevant, increasingly responsible professional level experience including experience with academic advising, developing policies and procedures, teaching, and staff supervision or an equivalent combination of education and experience. A summer 2008 start date is preferred.

Gallatin offers a B.A. and M.A. in Individualized Study: student-created concentrations, intensive advisement and mentoring, experiential learning and student-centered teaching. Students combine course work from most NYU schools with Gallatin seminars and non-classroom study. Our courses link debates from the western classics and other significant world texts with current scholarship, contemporary issues and alternative canons. They also span the ancient to the modern periods, engage in cross-cultural and interdisciplinary dialogue, and cover a broad spectrum of arts practices. The Gallatin School is strongly committed to building a diverse community among faculty, staff and students.

NYU offers a superior benefits package, which includes free NYU tuition for self and eligible family members, generous vacation, medical, dental and pension plans. For more information about working at NYU and to apply for this position online (7144BR), visit our web site at: www.nyu.edu/hr/jobs/apply. Please select N2 when asked, "How were you referred to NYU?" Review of applications will begin immediately.

Faculty Position-Medical Humanities 3381

<http://www.utmb.edu/hcm/>

The Institute for the Medical Humanities (IMH) at the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston (UTMB) invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position, with rank negotiable based on experience. The successful candidate will join a multidisciplinary faculty in ethics, philosophy, history, law, policy, literature, religious studies, and visual studies who engage in research and teaching of medical students, trainees, and graduate students in the medical humanities as well as in the biomedical sciences. The IMH also offers an ethics consultation service in the university's hospitals. The IMH is home of the nation's only Ph.D. program in medical humanities.

Candidates should have a Ph.D. or other doctoral degree in a humanities discipline or in the medical humanities. Candidates must have a demonstrated ability to teach as well as a publication record commensurate with years of experience. A background in religious studies and ethics, potential to secure external grant funding, and the ability to engage in clinical ethics consultation are all highly desirable. Candidates from underrepresented minority backgrounds are encouraged to apply.

Please apply online at <http://www.utmb.edu/hcm/>. Job Opening ID 11709. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. UTMB is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution which proudly values diversity. Applicants of all backgrounds are encouraged to apply. [R]
