Andrew W. Mellon Postdoctoral Fellowships at Hampshire College 7532
<http://www.hampshire.edu>

Hampshire College, supported by a grant through the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation "to make Hampshire College into a 'language learning community' where students are motivated to integrate the exploration of a world language into their individualized program of studies," seeks to hire one or (depending on the candidate pool) possibly two postdoctoral fellows for a two-year term to begin in the 2009-10 academic year. Applicants should be prepared to be on campus by August 15, 2009. (A third fellow or second and third fellows will be appointed for the 2010-11 academic year out of a competition to be run in spring 2010.)

To be eligible, applicants must have received their Ph.D. (or terminal degree in their field) between May 1, 2004 and June 30, 2009.

Each fellow will teach one course per term and be available for student advising. S/he will have time to pursue scholarly and/or creative work and have access to a senior mentor. In addition to bringing foreign language material and foreign language competence to our students in courses and in advising contexts, fellows will contribute to each schools' vision of how Hampshire faculty integrate world languages into their research and teaching.

Applicants who have multilingual ability in one or more of the following areas will be given priority consideration:

- 1) Language, Literacy, and Culture
- 2) African Expressive and Material Arts
- 3) Multilingualism in the City

A detailed description for each area can be found on the Hampshire College website: <http://www.hampshire.edu/dof/fellowships.htm>

Hampshire College is committed to building a culturally diverse intellectual community and strongly encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Review of applications will begin on June 1, 2009. Hampshire College offers a competitive salary and comprehensive benefit program. Applicants should submit a letter of application (please indicate for which area you are applying and how you can contribute to making Hampshire a language learning community), a curriculum vitae, a description of research, a statement of teaching experience and philosophy, a draft syllabus for a proposed course (these would not be language courses, but courses that incorporate non-English material), and at least three names and contact information for professional references. Actual letters addressing your teaching and research abilities must be sent separately from the recommenders to Pamela A. Shea, Global Education Office, 893 West Street, Hampshire College, Amherst, MA 01002.

Application materials should be e-mailed to postdoc@hampshire.edu in a single PDF document. Only applicants under serious consideration will be contacted.

The Department of Hebrew and Judaic Studies at New York University seeks to appoint two Dorot Assistant Professor/Faculty Fellows in Hebrew and Judaic Studies for a one-year term, renewable for a second and third year, beginning in the Fall of 2009. Candidates may work on any aspect of Jewish religion, philosophy, literature, culture or history. Scholars trained in anthropology, musicology, and other such approaches to modern Jewish experience are welcome to apply. PhD must be in hand by the start of the 2009–10 academic year with no exceptions, and may not have been received before 2006. Dorot Fellows hold appointments in the Skirball Department of Hebrew and Judaic Studies and work closely with colleagues in their disciplinary specialization if appropriate. They will teach undergraduate, and occasionally graduate, courses within the department of Hebrew and Judaic Studies.

Letters of application, including current research plans, should be accompanied by a curriculum vitae and three letters of recommendation, as well as any published article(s) or dissertation chapters. Materials should be sent by April 22, 2009 to: The Dorot Fellowship Committee, Skirball Department of Hebrew and Judaic Studies, 51 Washington Square South, Room 101, New York, NY 10012. NYU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

SENIOR ACADEMIC APPOINTMENT

Academic Leader for A Key Role in one of the UK's Most Successful and Ambitious Universities

The University of Aberdeen is an ambitious, research-driven institution ranked as one of the top 200 universities in the world. It is committed to becoming one of the world's top 100. This ambition is supported by outstanding recent performance and major investment. The 2008 Research Assessment Exercise demonstrated the quality of Aberdeen's research with 89% judged to be of international quality and 55% to be world leading or internationally excellent. Research income has trebled in the past 12 years. In the past decade the University has invested over £170 million on infrastructure and has made a further commitment of £230 million of investment, which includes £57 million for an outstanding new library, providing unparalleled facilities for its 14,500 students and 3,800 staff. Aberdeen's Sixth Century Fundraising Campaign has attracted support of over £120 million, and the University has recently announced a £15 million programme of investment over the next three years to strengthen its intellectual and research leadership.

At this most exciting time the University wishes to make a pivotal leadership appointment within one of the Schools of the College of Arts and Social Sciences.

Head of the School of Language and Literature (Ref: N3433)

The School seeks a leader who is already well established as an outstanding academic with an international reputation in one of its disciplines, these being Celtic, English (including Literature, Language and Linguistics), Film and Visual Culture, French, German, Hispanic Studies.

The successful candidate is required to provide inspiring leadership as the School builds upon its established strengths to ensure further success in research, enhancing research profile where appropriate in certain disciplines, and in the ongoing promotion of highly effective learning and teaching. In addition to a distinguished research publications portfolio, candidates, who are likely already to be of Professorial standing, or who clearly merit appointment at that level, must be able to demonstrate their ability to direct and manage a large and complex School and to motivate a high caliber group in the attainment of demanding and clearly defined goals.

This prestigious role offers demanding and stimulating challenges, excellent rewards and the opportunity to enjoy a superb quality of life. It is for a three to five year period (to be discussed with the successful candidate) following which there will be the opportunity to return to a research-oriented academic role or possibly to take on an enhanced leadership role as the University continues to expand.

Please forward in absolute confidence, a full curriculum vitae, quoting relevant reference to: Adderley Featherstone plc, Horsley House, Regent Centre, Newcastle upon Tyne, NE3 3TZ. Tel: 0191 284 2395, Fax: 0191 285 1137, Email: adkcv@adderleyfeatherstone.com

Mod Langs, 807 Union St Schenectady NY 12308

Director of International Programs

<http://www.union.edu/Resources/Academic/InternationalProgram>

The Director of International Programs oversees all aspects of Union College's study abroad programs, including program development and promotion, assessment, budget and finances, policy development and implementation, International Programs office operations, student advising, and program/policy communication. Union's study abroad opportunities, many of which involve faculty-led programs of varying length, are vital to our mission of educating students to be engaged, innovative, and ethical contributors to our increasingly global, diverse, and technologically complex society. The Director will take a leadership role in aligning programs with the educational mission of the College and will have primary responsibility for organizing office systems, updating and maintaining the International Programs web site, and overseeing finances for International Programs. The Director reports to the Vice President for Academic Affairs, co-chairs the Liaison Committee on Study Abroad, and supervises office personnel.

Qualifications: Master's degree required, Ph.D. strongly preferred. A minimum of five years of experience in international program administration, including program and policy development, management of budget and finances, knowledge of relevant laws and regulations, willingness to travel internationally, excellent interpersonal and communication skills, and familiarity with standard office and web-design software required. Experience teaching in a liberal arts, higher education college setting, advising students and proficiency in a foreign language preferred.

Applications will be reviewed starting May 26, 2009 and will be accepted until the position is filled. The starting date of employment is flexible.

Please apply in person, via fax, e-mail, or US mail.
