ACCESSING THE ELECTRONIC JIL

An online version of the Job Information List is now available for searching by JIL subscribers as well as by job seekers in ADE and ADFL member departments. A user name and password are required to search the database. To find your user name and password, follow these directions:

If you are an individual subscriber: If you already have a user name and password, use them. If you do not, locate the address label on the back cover of your Job Information List. Your current online user name is the number located in the upper right-hand side of the address label. Your password is your zip code or the first five letters of your country (capitalized) if you live outside the United States. This user name and password will give you initial access to the electronic JIL. The online JIL can be found at the MLA's World Wide Web site (www.mla.org); follow the Job Information link to the JIL page, where you will find information on how to search the JIL. You have the option to change your user name and password whenever you choose by going to the JIL page, clicking on either of the "Search" buttons, giving your current user name and password at the prompt, and then clicking the "Subscriber Information" button at the top of the search form and following the instructions for changing your user name and password.

If you are a job seeker in an ADE or ADFL member department: Graduate students and faculty members in departments that are current paid members of ADE or ADFL have access to the online JIL as a benefit of their department's ADE or ADFL membership. You must access the JIL through the ADE or ADFL home pages (www.ade.org; www.adfl.org). Information on how to access the online JIL on this basis is available from your department chair.

SUBSCRIPTION INFORMATION

The Job Information List is published four times during the academic year—in October, December, February, and April. Listings are solicited from two- and four-year colleges and universities for all issues. The cost of a subscription is $30.00 in the United States and Canada and $42.00 elsewhere. The List is sent by first-class mail to subscribers in the United States and Canada and by airmail to all other areas. This April List is the last regularly scheduled issue for 1997-98; however, a special Summer Supplement containing last-minute notices of vacancies will be mailed to all 1997-98 subscribers (both full-year and half-year) on 22 June. Renewal forms for 1998-99 will be included in the supplement.

Further inquiries should be directed to Roy Chustek, Editor, Job Information List, MLA, 10 Astor Place, New York, NY 10003 (212 614-6321; joblist@mla.org).

INFORMATION FOR CANDIDATES

The April issue contains descriptions of approximately 73 definite and possible vacancies. The February listings are broken down by language as follows: French, 7 definite, 1 possible; Spanish, 36 definite; German, 4 definite, 1 possible; Slavic, 3 definite; Romance languages, 3 definite; and linguistics, Middle Eastern and Asian languages, comparative literature, and other language fields, 20 definite.

Guide for Using the Job Information List

The main body of the List, arranged in alphabetical order by language, contains information on definite or possible vacancies and notices from departments that expect no vacancies but would nevertheless like to keep résumés on file.

Read through this section item by item to see which departments would welcome your letter of application or inquiry at this time. Send letters only to departments expressing an interest in a person with your qualifications. If a notice states that no vacancies are expected but that the department would like to maintain a file of prospective candidates, you must decide in each case whether it is worthwhile to write.

Multiple Language Listings

Notices for two or more positions in different languages (e.g., for both an assistant professor of Russian and an instructor of French), as well as notices of single positions calling for expertise in more than one language (e.g., associate professor of Spanish and German).

Comparative Literature, Linguistics, ESL, and Other Sections

Notices in these fields have been separated out from the main body of the issue and placed under the appropriate heading.

Comments on Previous Listings

This section contains statements submitted by departments commenting on entries in previous issues of the List (e.g., announcing a new application deadline, reporting an address correction, etc.).

General Advice for Candidates

Be sure that your dossier (transcript, letters of recommendation, and other material) is ready to be sent out by your placement bureau to any department that requests it. Prepare and duplicate a one-page vita sheet to enclose with any letters of application or inquiry. In your letter of application, it is probably wise to express a willingness to be interviewed at the department's convenience. Professional meetings provide a convenient opportunity for such interviews.

While it is important to begin to search for a position immediately, you should be aware that hiring goes on all year. Surveys indicate that only about half of all English and foreign language departments have begun recruiting by the end of December and that the majority of departments do not complete the recruiting process until spring, in some cases until summer.

Bear in mind that the candidate who has not limited his or her search for a new position to a particular geographical area or kind of institution is most likely to find a position. Do not discount the small colleges where one often has the opportunity to teach a wide selection of courses to students of varied backgrounds.

Notice on Tenure Policies

The Modern Language Association recommends that department administrators and their representatives inform candidates before or during the interview about prospects for tenure in the specific position under consideration and about the tenure policies and practices in their departments and institutions. If the information is not offered, candidates are urged to inquire about these policies.

Acknowledgment of Applications

Acting on a recommendation from the MLA Delegate Assembly, the MLA Executive Council has adopted a policy calling for departments to acknowledge all applications for announced positions either by letter or by self-addressed postcards provided by applicants.

MLA Guide to the Job Search

The MLA Guide to the Job Search (New York: MLA, 1997) contains much useful information and advice to assist candidates in organizing their job searches confidently and competently. Copies of the Guide are available to JIL subscribers for $8.00 and no shipping and handling charge. The regular price of the Guide is $10.00 ($8.00 for MLA members), plus $3.00 for shipping and handling. To order a copy, write, enclosing a check, to MLA Member and Customer Services, 10 Astor Place, New York, NY 10003-6981.

Statement on Part-Time Faculty Members

The MLA Statement on the Use of Part-Time and Full-Time Adjunct Faculty appears in the October issues of the Job Information List.

LIST OF ADMINISTRATIONS CENSURED

BY THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS

Note: The following list and accompanying explanatory note are reprinted from Academe by permission of the American Association of University Professors and in accordance with the action of the MLA Delegate Assembly.

Investigations by the American Association of University Professors of the administrations of the institutions listed below show that, as evidenced by a past violation, they are not observing the generally recognized principles of academic freedom and tenure endorsed by this Association, the Association of American Colleges and Universities, and more than 150 other professional and educational organizations. The 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure may be found in the May-June 1990 issue of Academe.

This list is published for the purpose of informing Association members, the profession at large, and the public that unsatisfactory conditions of academic freedom and tenure have been found to prevail at these institutions. Names are placed on or removed from this censure list by vote of the Association's Annual Meeting.

Placing the name of an institution on this list does not mean that censure is visited either upon the whole of the institution or upon the faculty, but specifically upon its present administration. The term "administration" includes the administrative officers and the governing board of the institution. This censure does not affect the eligibility of nonmembers for membership in the Association, nor does it affect the individual rights of members at the institution in question.

Members of the Association have often considered it to be their duty, in order to indicate their support of the principles violated, to refrain from accepting appointment to an institution so long as it remains on the censure list. Since circumstances differ widely from case to case, the Association does not assert that such an unqualified obligation exists for its members; it does urge that, before accepting appointments, they seek information on present conditions of academic freedom and tenure from the Association's Washington office and prospective departmental colleagues. The Association leaves it to the discretion of the individual, possessed of the facts, to make the proper decision.

The censured administrations, with dates of censuring, are listed below. Reports were published as indicated by the Bulletin or Academe citations in parentheses following each listing. Reference should also be made to "Developments Relating to Censure by the Association" and to the "Report of Committee A," each of which appears annually in Academe.

Duke U

Durham, North Carolina 27708

Mellon Post-Doc in Latin American Research Librarianship

The Center for International Library Programs at Duke University has two openings for 12-month post-doctoral fellows with recent PhDs in any field of Latin American studies who wish to pursue careers as Latin American library specialists. The program is supported by a grant from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, and combines an orientation to the modern research library with practical and independent area-related experience. Each fellow will focus on collection development in a particular field of Latin American studies and on specialized reference; participate in the activities of the Duke-University of North Carolina Program in Latin American Studies; audit selected courses at the School of Information and Library Science at UNC-Chapel Hill; visit libraries with significant Latin American collections; prepare a research project suitable for publication and/or presentation at the annual meeting of the Seminar on the Acquisition of Latin American Library Materials (SALALM) and/or the conference of the Latin American Studies Association (LASA).

Qualifications: recent PhD in a field of Latin American Studies is required, as well as fluency in Spanish and/or Portuguese and strong written and oral communication skills. Desirable qualifications include prior experience working in a research library, familiarity with electronic resources, and a demonstrated ability to work effectively with faculty, students, and library staff. Preference will be given to those candidates who, either in graduate school or during employment as assistant professors, have developed a clear affinity for this alternative career path.

Salary and benefits: Each fellowship for 1998-99 is $37,750 (twelve months, full-time). Duke offers an excellent benefits package, including health, dental, and life insurance, accrued sick and vacation leave, 13 holidays annually, participation in a retirement plan upon eligibility, and reallocation assistance.

Application procedure: Candidates should submit a letter describing their training, experience, and interest, with a resume and the names, addresses, and phone numbers of three references, to Sharon A. Sullivan, Director, Personnel Services, Perkins Library, Box 90194, Duke University, Durham, NC 27708. Review of applications will begin in late March and continue until late April. The beginning date of the fellowship is flexible, but anticipated to be no later than 1 September. Final candidates will be invited to interview on the Duke campus in May.

For additional information contact Dr. Deborah Jakubs, Head, International and Area Studies, and Director, Center for International Library Programs, Box 90195, Perkins Library, Duke University, Durham, NC 27708. E-mail: jakubs@acpub.duke.edu.

U of Minnesota

General College, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455

Associate Professor or Professor of Multicultural Education

00147

The General College of the University of Minnesota-Twin Cities seeks a senior scholar and leader in the field of multicultural education. The position is at the level of tenured Associate Professor or Professor in multicultural education, with related disciplinary speciality open.

The successful candidate will have a strong publication record in multicultural education with an emphasis on race, class, and gender intersections. The candidate will also have demonstrated leadership in curriculum transformation, and will have a commitment to work with diverse communities outside the university, particularly in the Twin Cities.

General College is an autonomous college that serve lower-division pre-transfer students who do not meet the admissions criteria of the highly selective freshman-admitting college of the University of Minnesota. It has a long history of innovation pedagogically, and continues to serve a rich and diverse student population. General College is also dedicated to bridge-building between the university and the many urban communities it serves.

Essential qualifications for the degree are as follows: (1) An earned doctorate in any field. (2) A strong record of research and publication in multicultural education, including recent work that emphasizes race, gender, and class intersections. (3) A strong record of inclusive curriculum transformation and development, including successful efforts at grant-writing. (4) Evidence of effective teaching of undergraduate and graduate students, including lower-division students, in one of the following broad areas: Physical and Biological Sciences, Humanities, Social and Behavioral Sciences, Developmental Mathematics, Composition-Basic Writing, ESL, Communication, Ethnic Studies. (5) Evidence of leadership and collaboration in promoting multicultural endeavors with both university and community members.

Duties and responsibilities are as follows: (1) Maintain an exemplary research profile in multicultural education. (2) Write proposals for funding to support multicultural education research and service projects appropriate to an urban research university. (3) Teach lower-division General College courses (field of speciality open); teach at least one graduate course per year in an affiliated department; the normal General College teaching load is six quarter courses per year, with reduction in the start-up year and opportunities for reduction via grant-funded buy-outs in subsequent years. (4) Provide active leadership to General College and other University of Minnesota faculty doing research on multicultural education in the context of an urban developmental education program.

To apply, please submit the following: (1) Letter of application indicating background for and interest in the position; the letter should specifically address research and publication plans in multicultural education and describe work in progress. (2) Current vita. (3) Copies of three recent representative publications or manuscripts in press. (4) Copies of recent syllabi for undergraduate and graduate courses. (5) Three recent letters of reference that speak to research, teaching, and leadership.

Send materials to the following address: Multicultural Education Search, University of Minnesota—General College, 240 Appleby Hall, 128 Pleasant St. SE, Minneapolis, MN 55455, FAX (612)625-0709. Nominations for the position are welcome. Send nominations to the above address.

Deadline: Review of applications will begin on April 1, 1998. Applications will continue to be received and reviewed until the position is filled.

OVERSEAS INSTITUTIONS

U of Hong Kong

Linguistics, Hong Kong

Associate/Assistant Professor in Linguistics

As the oldest tertiary education institution in Hong Kong, the University of Hong Kong has attained unparalleled achievements since 1911 in Hong Kong and the region by drawing on the great cultural traditions of China and the West. The University is a major research institution with nine major faculties and 100 departments and subdivisions of studies and learning, and a full- and part-time postgraduate and undergraduate student body of almost 15,000, including 1,900 research students. Our firm commitment to research excellence and internationalisation has established us as one of the top universities in the region. We are firmly committed to our vision of globalisation and enhancing our research excellence.

Applications are invited for appointment as Associate/Assistant Professor (2 posts; RF-97/98-58) in the Department of Linguistics, tenable from September 1, 1998 or as soon as possible thereafter, subject to availability of funding. Appointment will initially be made on a fixed-term basis of three years, with a possibility of renewal.

The current work of the Department of Linguistics concentrates mainly on the areas of language and corpora construction, compilation of grammars and dictionaries, Chinese linguistics, contrastive linguistics, language typology, bilingualism, pidgin and creole linguistics, conversation analysis, optimality theory, and the study of clitics. The range of languages on which research is being done includes Chinese, Cantonese, Chiuchow (Chaozhou), English, Finnish, Ndebele, Nootka, and Dagaare, among others. Two suitable candidates are therefore being sought, one of whom should have specialization in Phonology and the other in Syntax. Applicants should have a PhD in Linguistics. In addition, they should have teaching and/or research experience in at least one of the following areas: Linguistic Theory, Morphology, Psycholinguistics, Sociolinguistics, and Chinese Linguistics. For appointment at Associate Professor level, applicants must have substantial teaching experience and a strong record of research and publication. Appointees will be required to contribute to the teaching of existing courses in the Department, offer courses in their areas of expertise, supervise research postgraduate students, and pursue an active programme of research and publication. Applicants for appointment as Associate Professor should indicate whether they wish to be considered for appointment at Assistant Professor level as well.

Annual salaries (attracting 15% (taxable) terminal gratuity) are on the following scales, with starting salary depending on qualifications and experience: Associate Professor (in the grade of Senior Lecturer): HK$812,220-1,091,100 (9 points: approx. US$105,360-141,537); Assistant Professor (in the grade of Lecturer): HK$522,780-873,360 (11 points: approx. US$67,815-113,289). US equivalents as at February 23, 1998. An appointee with an annual salary at HK$698,520 (approx. US$90,609) or above may be considered for the award of the title of Associate Professor.

At current rates, salaries tax will not exceed 15% of gross income. The appointment carries leave, medical and dental benefits, an allowance for children's education in Hong Kong, and, in most cases, a financial subsidy for private tenancy may also be provided at a charge of a percentage of salary, currently 7.5%.

Further particulars and application forms can be obtained at www.hku.hk, or from the Appointments Unit, Registry, University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong (Fax (852) 2540 6735 or 2559 2058; e-mail apptunit@reg.hku.hk). Closes 30 June 1998. The University is an equal opportunity employer and is working towards a smoke-free environment.

We are firmly committed to our vision of globalisation and enhancing our research excellence.

Applications are invited for appointment as Assistant Professor in the Department of Comparative Literature (RF-97/98-63), tenable from September 1, 1998 or as soon as possible thereafter. Appointment will initially be made on a three-year fixed-term basis, with a possibility of renewal.

The Department of Comparative Literature, being the first and only such department in Asia, offers a curriculum characterized by the wide-ranging and sometimes unconventional nature of its courses, which are designed to provide students with dynamic programs in humanities and cultural education, to train them in inter-/anti-disciplinary critical thinking as well as trans-/cross-cultural reading, and to equip them with a new kind of literacy as well as new logics of narration and cognition in a physical and cultural environment increasingly mediated by electronic media. The Department's areas of concern in teaching and research are: literary and cultural theory, film and new media studies, postcolonial culture, and the relationships between East Asian and Western cultures. The Department is therefore interested in applicants who possess a PhD degree (preferably in Comparative Literature or Cultural Studies), with competence in cultural studies, media studies, and literary studies in the comparative and global context. Expertise in Chinese/Hong Kong cultural studies (literature, film, etc.) would be an advantage.

Annual salary (attracting 15% (taxable) terminal gratuity) for an Assistant Professor (in the grade of Lecturer) is on an 11-point scale, with starting salary depending on qualifications and experience: HK$522,780-873,360 (approx. US$67,815-113,297; equivalents as at February 23, 1998). An appointee with an annual salary at HK$698,520 (approx. US$90,609) or above may be considered for the award of the title of Associate Professor.

At current rates, salaries tax will not exceed 15% of gross income.
