SUBSCRIPTION INFORMATION

The print version of the Job Information List is published four times during the academic year—in October, December, February, and April. Listings are solicited from two- and four-year colleges and universities for all issues. The cost of an online-only subscription is $38. The cost of a print-only subscription is $50 in the United States and Canada and $70 elsewhere. The cost of a subscription to both online and print versions is $70 in the United States and Canada and $90 elsewhere. The List is sent by first-class mail to subscribers in the United States and Canada and by airmail to all other areas; delivery should be shortly after the publication dates listed below. Please note, however, that these are projected dates only and are subject to change without notice. A subscription form is available at www.mla.org.

February issue 14 February 2005
April issue 15 April 2005

Further inquiries should be directed to Roy Chustek, Editor, Job Information List, MLA, 26 Broadway, 3rd floor, New York, NY 10004 (646 576-5133; rchustek@mla.org).

ACCESSING THE ELECTRONIC JIL

An online version of the Job Information List is available for searching by individuals who have subscribed to the electronic JIL as well as by job seekers in ADE- and ADFL-member departments. A user name and password are required to search the database. To find your user name and password, follow these directions:

If you are an individual subscriber: If you already have a user name and password, use them. If you do not, you may retrieve them online at the MLA Web site (www.mla.org). Follow the link to the JIL page and click on the appropriate "Search" button; when the password prompt appears, scroll down and enter your e-mail address in the appropriate box and click "E-mail me." Your user name and password will be sent to the e-mail address that you specified when you subscribed. You have the option to change your user name and password whenever you choose by logging in at the JIL page and then clicking the "Subscriber Information" button at the top of the search form and following the instructions for changing your user name and password.

If you are a job seeker in an ADE- or ADFL-member department: Graduate students and faculty members in departments that are current paid members of ADE or ADFL have access to the online JIL as a benefit of their department's ADE or ADFL membership. You must access the JIL through the ADE or ADFL home pages (www.adefl.org; www.adfl.org). Information on how to access the online JIL on this basis is available from your department chair.

INFORMATION FOR CANDIDATES

In This Issue

The February issue contains descriptions of approximately 160 definite and possible vacancies. Readers should note that departments are not encouraged to repeat listings. The February listings are broken down by language as follows: French, 15 definite, 2 possible; Spanish, 60 definite, 6 possible; German, 11 definite; Italian, 6 definite; Slavic, 3 definite; Romance languages, 4 definite; multiple language fields, 18 definite; and linguistics, Middle Eastern and Asian languages, comparative literature, and other language fields, 34 definite.

Guide for Using the Job Information List

US and Canadian Departments

The main body of the List, arranged in alphabetical order by language, contains information on definite or possible vacancies and notices from departments that expect no vacancies but would nevertheless like to keep vitae on file.

Read through this section item by item to see which departments would welcome your letter of application or inquiry at this time. Send letters only to departments expressing an interest in a person with your qualifications. If a notice states that no vacancies are expected but that the department would like to maintain a file of prospective candidates, you must decide in each case whether it is worthwhile to write.

Multiple Competencies

These are notices in which the language field is open, as well as notices of single positions calling for expertise in more than one language (e.g., associate professor of Spanish and German).

Comparative Literature and Linguistics and ESL Sections

Notices in these fields have been separated from the main body of the issue and placed under the appropriate heading.

General Advice for Candidates

Be sure that your dossier (transcript, letters of recommendation, and other material) is ready to be sent out by your placement bureau to any department that requests it. Prepare and duplicate a one-page vita to enclose with any letters of application or inquiry. In your letter of application, it is probably wise to express a willingness to be interviewed at the department's convenience. Professional meetings provide a convenient opportunity for such interviews.

Although it is important to begin to search for a position immediately, you should be aware that hiring goes on all year. Surveys indicate that only about half of all English and foreign language departments have begun recruiting by the end of December and that the majority of departments do not complete the recruiting process until spring, in some cases until summer.

Bear in mind that the candidate who has not limited his or her search for a new position to a particular geographic area or kind of institution is most likely to find a position. Do not discount the small colleges, where one often has the opportunity to teach a wide selection of courses to students of varied backgrounds.

Notice on Tenure Policies

The Modern Language Association recommends that department administrators and their representatives inform candidates before or during the interview about prospects for tenure in the specific position under consideration and about the tenure policies and practices in their departments and institutions. If the information is not offered, candidates are urged to inquire about these policies.

Acknowledgment of Applications

Acting on a recommendation from the MLA Delegate Assembly, the MLA Executive Council has adopted a policy calling for departments to acknowledge all applications for announced positions either by letter or by self-addressed postcards provided by applicants.

MLA Policy on the Reimbursement of Job Seekers

The following policies were recommended by the Delegate Assembly in December 1999 and approved by the MLA Executive Council in February 2000.

It is MLA policy that:

- Departments that require that job applicants send their application materials by express carrier reimburse those applicants for the cost of such shipment; and
- Departments that require multiple copies of writing samples and other application materials from job applicants reimburse applicants for the cost of duplicating their writing samples and other materials; and
- Departments that require books will return them to the applicant; and
- Departments that invite job applicants for on-campus interviews reimburse those applicants who accept such invitations for the costs of travel and accommodations incurred when visiting the campus for interviews.

LIST OF ADMINISTRATIONS CENSURED

BY THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS

*Note: The following list and accompanying explanatory note are reprinted from Academe by permission of the American Association of University Professors and in accordance with the action of the MLA Delegate Assembly.*

Investigations by the American Association of University Professors of the administrations of the institutions listed below show that, as evidenced by a past violation, they are not observing the generally recognized principles of academic freedom and tenure endorsed by this Association, the Association of American Colleges and Universities, and more than 150 other professional and educational organizations. The 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure may be found in the May-June 1990 issue of Academe.

This list is published for the purpose of informing Association members, the profession at large, and the public that unsatisfactory conditions of academic freedom and tenure have been found to prevail at these institutions. Names are placed on or removed from this censure list by vote of the Association's Annual Meeting.

Placing the name of an institution on this list does not mean that censure is visited either upon the whole of the institution or upon the faculty, but specifically upon its present administration. The term "administration" includes the administrative officers and the governing board of the institution. This censure does not affect the eligibility of nonmembers for membership in the Association, nor does it affect the individual rights of members at the institution in question.

Members of the Association have often considered it to be their duty, in order to indicate their support of the principles violated, to refrain from accepting appointment to an institution so long as it remains on the censure list. Since circumstances differ widely from case to case, the Association does not assert that such an unqualified obligation exists for its members; it does urge that, before accepting appointments, they seek information on present conditions of academic freedom and tenure from the Association's Washington office and prospective departmental colleagues. The Association leaves it to the discretion of the individual, possessed of the facts, to make the proper decision.

The censured administrations, with dates of censuring, are listed below. Reports were published as indicated by the Bulletin or Academe citations in parentheses following each listing. Reference should also be made to "Developments Relating to Censure by the Association" and to the "Report of Committee A," each of which appears annually in Academe.

The Department of Language, Cultures, and History The New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences at Arizona State University West campus seeks an individual to direct the development of programming in modern languages other than English. From its founding in 1986 until the fall of 2001, Arizona State University West campus offered only upper-division and graduate courses, and its language offerings throughout that period were primarily upper-division courses in Spanish. With the advent of lower-division, demand for language instruction has greatly increased. We seek a faculty member with an interest in providing direction and leadership for expanded offerings in modern languages and in developing a model program of language instruction. ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS: Serve as Director of Modern Languages; provide leadership and direction to existing Spanish program; develop programming in other language areas; teach lower and upper-division courses in specialty; engage in scholarly research as well as participate in professional, college, and university service activities. REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. in Spanish or related area; demonstrated knowledge of language pedagogy; evidence of research and teaching commensurate with rank; demonstrated experience in developing language programs and curricula. DESIRED QUALIFICATIONS: Emphasis in Latin American literature and culture with a focus on Mexico or borderlands, period open; demonstrated knowledge of multimedia instructional integration; experience in intercollegiate language initiatives; demonstrated evidence of interdisciplinary collaboration in transnational studies of the Americas. APPLICATION DEADLINE: December 3, 2004; if not filled weekly thereafter until search is closed. APPLICATION PROCEDURE: Send letter of application, curriculum vita, and name, address, telephone number, and e-mail address of three references who can speak to your qualifications for this position to Monica Oberthaler, New College of Interdisciplinary Arts & Sciences Dean's Office, ASU West, P.O. Box 37100, Phoenix, AZ 85069-7100. GENERAL INFORMATION: As a new American university, Arizona State University is a force for discovery, turning students into leaders who shape the future. In its 20th year, the West campus of ASU, located in Phoenix, fulfills this mission through interdisciplinary teaching, research and community engagement. The campus serves more than 7,300 students and offers 29 bachelor's degree programs, nine master's degrees, eight professional certificates and is currently developing its first doctoral degree program. CHAIR, AFRICAN-AMERICAN & AFRICAN STUDIES RUTGERS UNIVERSITY-NEWARK The Department of African-American & African Studies at Rutgers University-Newark is pleased to announce its search for a new chair. The Department seeks a well-established, senior scholar who can build on our strengths while guiding the Department into its evolving role on the Rutgers-Newark campus. The position will be a senior appointment (associate or full professor) in African-American & African Studies and a joint appointment in and appropriate affiliate department. The Department seeks both leadership and scholarship in a senior scholar who will balance traditional scholarly commitment to the African-American community with an increasing focus on the international community. We are particularly interested in established scholars who engage in comparative work on African-Americans and African Diaspora populations. The Department wishes to position itself at the forefront of the new scholarship that is now taking place in Diaspora and Immigrant Studies. The location of our campus in New Jersey's largest city and home to important immigrant populations provides significant opportunities. Our faculty is comprised both of full and joint appointments, as well as of affiliate faculty from a range of academic departments, including English, History, Philosophy, Anthropology, Sociology, Social Work, and the Law School-Newark. In addition, the Department is linked to important research institutes at Rutgers including the Institute on Ethnicity, Culture, and the Modern Experience (<http://ethnicity.rutgers.edu>); the Joseph C. Cornwall Center for Metropolitan Studies (<http://www.cornwall.rutgers.edu>); the Center for Global Change & Governance (<http://cgcg.rutgers.edu>), as well as the Rutgers University Center for Historical Analysis (<http://rcha.rutgers.edu>) and the Center for African Studies (<http://ruafrica.rutgers.edu>) in New Brunswick. While serving an undergraduate population, the Department has been central to broadening Rutgers-Newark's graduate offerings in the humanities and social sciences. African-American/African Studies will be part of the new American Studies Ph.D. Program, which, with its expanded definition of the Americas, its broadening of interdisciplinary scope beyond the traditional English-History continuum, and its emphasis on immigration and ethnicity, is conceived in such a way that the study of African Diaspora peoples is central to its success. Participation of African-American/African Studies faculty in the doctoral programs in Global Studies and Urban Systems is also encouraged. ACLS Director of Fellowship Programs

<http://www.acls.org>

The mission of the ACLS, founded in 1919, is to advance humanistic studies in all fields of learning in the humanities and related social sciences and to maintain and strengthen relations among national societies devoted to such studies. ACLS is nationally known and respected as a funder of humanities research through fellowships and grants awarded to individuals and, on occasion, to groups and institutions. The centerpiece of this work is the ACLS Fellowship Program. Over the past 60 years more than 4,000 scholars have held ACLS Fellowships, including many of the leading figures in the humanities today. In 1997, ACLS began a campaign to double its endowment devoted to fellowships. The success of the campaign thus far has increased the Council's capacity to support scholarship. In the most recently concluded competition for ACLS Fellowships, more than 120 scholars received awards totaling $4.8 million. The Director of Fellowship Programs will thus be at the center of a major national program, which is in the process of significant reinvigoration. The Director, under the direction of the President, will organize screening and peer review panels; preside at meetings of the selection panels; conduct research on the distribution of fellowship awards in this and other national fellowship programs; present periodic reports to the ACLS Board of Directors; help develop and fund new programs that fit with the Council's mission; and supervise the programs' administration. As a member of the Council's relatively small program staff, the Director also will contribute to the general work of ACLS. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in a field represented by ACLS, possess excellent communication and interpersonal skills, and demonstrate interest, experience and effectiveness in academic administration. Broad familiarity with humanities scholarship, while not a necessary qualification, is highly desirable. Nominations and applications (including a c.v. and the names and addresses of at least three references) should be sent to: Director of Fellowship Programs Search American Council of Learned Societies 633 Third Avenue New York, New York 10017 fax: 212 573 9704 We seek to fill this post as soon as possible. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applications will be reviewed until the post is filled. ACLS is an equal opportunity employer.

MAKING PUBLICS: MEDIA, MARKETS, AND ASSOCIATION IN EARLY MODERN EUROPE, 1500-1700

McGill seeks 3 postdoctoral fellows for a SSHRC-funded project that will illuminate the artistic, intellectual, religious, social, and political culture of Britain and Western Europe. At the heart of the work is the study of small-scale forms of association that represented a new way of connecting with others, a kind of connection not founded in family, rank or vocation, but rather a form of voluntary community built on the shared interests, tastes, and desires of individuals. Members of the team include scholars in Art, Literary, Music, and Theatre History, History of Science, History of Religion, Sociology, Human Geography, Media Studies, Social and Intellectual History, and Education, including literary scholars David Boruchoff, Michael Bristol, Wes Folkerth, Richard Helgerson, Maggie Kilgour, Steven Mullaney, Kevin Pask, Shankar Raman, François Rouget, and Paul Yachnin; historians David Harris Sacks, Robert Tittler, and Joseph Ward; historian of science Lesley Cormack; music historian Julie Cumming; and art historians Angela Vanhaelen and Bronwen Wilson. Please visit www.shakespeare.mcgill.ca/mcri.

Postdoctoral Fellowship in Studies of Early Modern Europe The start date for this year-long position is 1 July 05. There is the possibility of a 1-year renewal. Candidates will have a PhD in Art History, Literary Studies (in English, French, Italian, or Spanish), Music History, History of Religion or History; and a research program relevant to the project's central interests. The Fellow will assist the director with the planning and organization of the project, and work with colleagues in an interdisciplinary context. The Fellow might have opportunities to teach courses in his or her area of specialty. The stipend is approx. $30000/year.

Postdoctoral Fellowship in Humanities Computing The start date for this year-long position is 1 July 05. Depending on performance, the position will be renewable for up to 3 years in total. Candidates will have a PhD in one of the fields relevant to the project and a research program in Humanities Computing. Part of the Fellow's research program will have to do with the educational and/or social dimensions of web-based resources in the Humanities. The Fellow will work with colleagues in an interdisciplinary context. With help and guidance from team members Wes Folkerth and Kevin Kee, and working with Virtual Museum curator David Goa, the Fellow will be principally responsible for the development of the project website. The stipend is approx. $30000/year.

MaPs Coordinator Postdoctoral Fellowship The start date for this year-long position is 1 July 05. Depending on performance, the position will be renewable for up to 3 years in total. Candidates will have a PhD in one of the fields represented in the project and a research program relevant to the project's central interests. The coordinator will work with the director in the planning and organization of all aspects of the research work. He or she will oversee the organization of events and meetings and will liaise with the website consultant, the postdoctoral fellow in Humanities Computing, and partners. He or she will prepare reports on team activities for the management committee, the Advisory Board, and the funding agency, and will prepare budgets and financial reports, in consultation with the director. The salary is approx. $40000/year.

Please send research program description, writing sample, CV, plus 3 recommendation letters, by 1 April 05 to Prof. Paul Yachnin, Dept. of English, Arts Bldg., McGill, 853 Sherbrooke St. W., Montreal, QC, Canada, H3A 2T5. Please indicate to which position(s) you are applying.
