INFORMATION FOR CANDIDATES

Information on vacancies for the April issue was provided by departments of foreign language, comparative literature, and linguistics in US and Canadian colleges and universities, as well as some number of overseas institutions and nonacademic enterprises.

Guide for Using the Job Information List

US and Canadian Departments

The main body of the List, arranged in alphabetical order by state, contains information on definite or possible vacancies, comments on notices published in past issues (e.g., that a previously announced position has been filled), and notices from departments that expect no vacancies but would nevertheless like to keep résumés on file.

Read through this section item by item to see which departments would welcome your letter of application or inquiry at this time. Send letters only to departments expressing an interest in a person with your qualifications. If a notice states that no vacancies are expected but that the department would like to maintain a file of prospective candidates, you must decide in each case whether it is worthwhile to write.

Multiple Competencies

Notices in which the language field is open, as well as notices of single positions calling for expertise in more than one language (e.g., associated professor of Spanish or German).

Comparative Literature and Linguistics and ESL Sections

Notices in these fields have been separated out from the main body of the issue and placed under the appropriate heading, with occasional cross-referencing to items in the main body of the List that might also be of interest. Candidates should read through the main body carefully, however, since the cross-referencing is not exhaustive.

General Advice for Candidates

Be sure that your dossier (transcript, letters of recommendation, and other material) is ready to be sent out by your placement bureau to any department that requests it. Prepare and duplicate a one-page vita sheet to enclose with any letters of application or inquiry. In your letter of application, it is probably wise to express a willingness to be interviewed at the department's convenience. Professional meetings provide a convenient opportunity for such interviews (see MLA convention information on pp. iii–iv).

While it is important to begin to search for a position immediately, you should be aware that hiring goes on all year. Surveys indicate that only about half of all English and foreign language departments have begun recruiting by the end of December and that the majority of departments do not complete the recruiting process until spring, in some cases until summer.

Bear in mind that the candidate who has not limited his or her search for a new position to a particular geographical area or kind of institution is most likely to find a position. Do not discount the small colleges where one often has the opportunity to teach a wide selection of courses to students of varied backgrounds.

Notice on Tenure Policies

The Modern Language Association recommends that department administrators and their representatives inform candidates before or during the interview about prospects for tenure in the specific position under consideration and about the tenure policies and practices in their departments and institutions. If the information is not offered, candidates are urged to inquire about these policies.

Acknowledgment of Applications

Acting on a recommendation from the MLA Delegate Assembly, the MLA Executive Council has adopted a policy calling for departments to acknowledge all applications for announced positions.

MLA Policy on the Reimbursement of Job Seekers

The following policies were recommended by the Delegate Assembly in December 1999 and approved by the MLA Executive Council in February 2000.

It is MLA policy that

- departments that require that job applicants send their application materials by express carrier reimburse those applicants for the cost of such shipment; and
- departments that require multiple copies of writing samples and other application materials from job applicants reimburse applicants for the cost of duplicating their writing samples and other materials; and
- departments that require books will return them to the applicant; and
- departments that invite job applicants for on-campus interviews reimburse those applicants who accept such invitations for the costs of travel and accommodations incurred when visiting the campus for interviews.

LIST OF ADMINISTRATIONS CENSURED BY THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS

*Note: The following list and accompanying explanatory note are reprinted from Academe by permission of the American Association of University Professors and in accordance with the action of the MLA Delegate Assembly.*

Investigations by the American Association of University Professors of the administrations of the institutions listed below show that, as evidenced by a past violation, they are not observing the generally recognized principles of academic freedom and tenure endorsed by this Association, the Association of American Colleges and Universities, and more than 150 other professional and educational organizations. The 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure may be found in the May-June 1990 issue of Academe.

This list is published for the purpose of informing Association members, the profession at large, and the public that unsatisfactory conditions of academic freedom and tenure have been found to prevail at these institutions. Names are placed on or removed from this censure list by vote of the Association's Annual Meeting.

Placing the name of an institution on this list does not mean that censure is visited either upon the whole of the institution or upon the faculty, but specifically upon its present administration. The term "administration" includes the administrative officers and the governing board of the institution. This censure does not affect the eligibility of nonmembers for membership in the Association, nor does it affect the individual rights of members at the institution in question.

Members of the Association have often considered it to be their duty, in order to indicate their support of the principles violated, to refrain from accepting appointment to an institution so long as it remains on the censure list. Since circumstances differ widely from case to case, the Association does not assert that such an unqualified obligation exists for its members; it does urge that, before accepting appointments, they seek information on present conditions of academic freedom and tenure from the Association's Washington office and prospective departmental colleagues. The Association leaves it to the discretion of the individual, possessed of the facts, to make the proper decision.

The censured administrations, with dates of censuring, are listed below. Reports were published as indicated by the Bulletin or Academe citations in parentheses following each listing. Reference should also be made to "Developments Relating to Censure by the Association" and to the "Report of Committee A," each of which appears annually in Academe.

Assistant Professor of Arabic (#13–07)

Apply to this position at <https://secure.interfolio.com/apply/21102>

The Foreign Language Department anticipates filling an Assistant Professor position in Arabic. The anticipated start date for this position is July 1st, 2013. The initial appointment is for three years. Subsequent reappointments of up to four years in length will be based upon an assessment of performance, Air Force and departmental needs, and funding availability. Successful candidates will demonstrate the potential for teaching excellence, academic service, sustained intellectual contributions, and will have native or near native Arabic language skills.

Qualifications: A PhD in Arabic, Arabic Literature, Arabic History, and/or Arabic Socio-Cultural/Political Studies, and/or Applied Linguistics, Second Language Acquisition, or Foreign Language Education with emphasis in Arabic is desired. Evidence of successful undergraduate teaching of the Arabic language and commitment to scholarship is essential. Additional desirable qualifications include experience with study abroad programs; first-hand knowledge of the history, culture, and current conditions in countries where Arabic is spoken; and familiarity with working in a military environment.

The United States Air Force Academy (USAFA) is located just north of Colorado Springs, Colorado. USAFA is an undergraduate institution which awards the Bachelor of Science degree as part of its mission to educate, train, and inspire men and women to become officers of character and statesmen, motivated to lead the United States Air Force in service to our nation. Faculty applications are invited from candidates who can contribute to this mission by interacting with cadets, both in and out of the classroom. Applications are invited from candidates with strong interests in teaching and developing undergraduate courses. Faculty with computers and advanced technology to enhance education is desirable. The Academy faculty is an integrated group of military and civilian educators. The student body consists of approximately 4,000 men and women representing every state and several foreign countries. The curriculum includes core academic and professional courses, and 32 disciplinary and interdisciplinary majors.

Requirements: The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation leading to successful completion of a background investigation with a favorable adjudication. The selectee's failure to meet this requirement will be grounds for termination.

Salary: Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To Apply: Go to www.usajobs.gov. Type in "USAF Academy" in the "Where" box and click on "Search Jobs." Then scroll down until you locate this position. Finalists may be invited to interview and demonstrate classroom instruction at USAFA. Applications must be received by February 13th, 2013. U. S. citizenship required. The U.S. Air Force Academy is an Equal Opportunity Employer and provides reasonable accommodation to qualified applicants with disabilities. The Air Force believes that diversity is essential to accomplishing its mission. The Air Force Academy highly values individuals who have a demonstrated ability to work successfully with and help develop individuals of diverse backgrounds and perspectives. For the Air Force, diversity encompasses: personal life experiences, geographic background, socioeconomic background, cultural knowledge, educational background, work background, language abilities, physical abilities, philosophical/spiritual perspectives, age, race, ethnicity, and gender.

Assistant Professor of French (#13-08)

Apply to this position at <https://secure.interfolio.com/apply/21103>

The Foreign Language Department anticipates filling an Assistant Professor position in French. The anticipated start date for this position is July 1st, 2013. The initial appointment is for three years. Subsequent reappointments of up to four years in length will be based upon an assessment of performance, Air Force and departmental needs, and funding availability. Successful candidates will demonstrate the potential for teaching excellence, academic service, sustained intellectual contributions, and will have native or near native French and English language skills.

Qualifications: A PhD in French, French Literature, French History, and/or French Socio-Cultural/Political Studies, and/or Applied Linguistics, Second Language Acquisition, or Foreign Language Education with emphasis in French is desired. Evidence of successful undergraduate teaching of the French language and commitment to scholarship is essential. Additional desirable qualifications include experience with study abroad programs; first-hand knowledge of the history, culture, and current conditions in countries where French is spoken; and familiarity with working in a military environment.

The United States Air Force Academy (USAFA) is located just north of Colorado Springs, Colorado. USAFA is an undergraduate institution which awards the Bachelor of Science degree as part of its mission to educate, train, and inspire men and women to become officers of character and statesmen, motivated to lead the United States Air Force in service to our nation. Faculty applications are invited from candidates who can contribute to this mission by interacting with cadets, both in and out of the classroom. Applications are invited from candidates with strong interests in teaching and developing undergraduate courses. Facility with computers and advanced technology to enhance education is desirable. The Academy faculty is an integrated group of military and civilian educators. The student body consists of approximately 4,000 men and women representing every state and several foreign countries. The curriculum includes core academic and professional courses, and 32 disciplinary and interdisciplinary majors.

Requirements: The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation leading to successful completion of a background investigation with a favorable adjudication. The selectee's failure to meet this requirement will be grounds for termination.

Salary: Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To Apply: Go to www.usajobs.gov. Type in "USAF Academy" in the "Where" box and click on "Search Jobs." Then scroll down until you locate this position. Finalists may be invited to interview and demonstrate classroom instruction at USAFA. Applications must be received by February 13th, 2013. U. S. citizenship required. The U.S. Air Force Academy is an Equal Opportunity Employer and provides reasonable accommodation to qualified applicants with disabilities. The Air Force believes that diversity is essential to accomplishing its mission. The Air Force Academy highly values individuals who have a demonstrated ability to work successfully with and help develop individuals of diverse backgrounds and perspectives. For the Air Force, diversity encompasses: personal life experiences, geographic background, socioeconomic background, cultural knowledge, educational background, work background, language abilities, physical abilities, philosophical/spiritual perspectives, age, race, ethnicity, and gender.

<http://www.aus.edu/>

Dean, College of Arts and Sciences

Apply to this position at <https://secure.interfolio.com/apply/21112>

The American University of Sharjah (AUS), one of the premier institutions of higher education in the Middle East, seeks an accomplished academic leader for its College of Arts and Sciences (CAS).

Reporting to the Provost, the Dean serves as the chief academic and administrative officer and leads a College of 154 highly qualified faculty members. The largest academic unit within AUS, the College of Arts and Sciences offers the Bachelor of Arts in English Language and Literature, International Studies, and Mass Communication; and the Bachelor of Science in Biology, Chemistry, Environmental Sciences, and Mathematics. Graduate degrees include the Master of Arts in Translation and Interpreting (Arabic/English) and in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages as well as the Master of Science in Mathematics. The College of Arts and Sciences provides core liberal arts courses for all AUS baccalaureate students, offers a rapidly developing program in the performing arts, and houses the new and recently launched Middle Eastern Studies Center. The College is poised to develop additional graduate professional and research programs in key areas, a process in which the new Dean will play a central and critical leadership role.

The College seeks an engaged, dynamic and forward-looking individual with a deep and demonstrated commitment to liberal learning to serve as Dean. The successful candidate will possess an earned doctorate and an outstanding record as an accomplished teacher and scholar, with successful experience as an innovative and inspiring academic leader at a complex and diverse institution of higher learning. The Dean will articulate a strong vision for the advantages of liberal learning and excellence in education and will serve as the chief advocate for the College and its aspirations among its supporters, both new and old. The Dean will have the capacity to envision and build new programs across disciplines, to promote relationships and exchanges with partner universities in the region and globally, and to win new friends for the College's distinctive programs in the humanities and in the natural and social sciences. Cross-cultural competency will be an essential trait in the new Dean, as is an inclusive and transparent interpersonal style that encourages communication and collaboration within the College and across the University.

Founded in 1997 by the Ruler of Sharjah, the American University of Sharjah is a comprehensive, independent, non-profit coeducational university based on American models of higher education. AUS provides broad access to highly motivated students from all countries, while maintaining academic standards appropriate to and consistent with U.S. universities. The University has achieved remarkable growth and academic distinction during its short history. The campus is a spectacular setting of imposing architecture and beautiful landscaping, and is located approximately 30 minutes from Dubai International Airport. Sharjah is known as a city of learning and culture, and the United Arab Emirates is a thriving and rapidly changing country of approximately eight million inhabitants from throughout the world.

The American University of Sharjah offers 21 undergraduate and 13 graduate degree programs through four academic units: the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Engineering, the College of Architecture, Art and Design, and the School of Business and Management. The University enrolls more than 5,500 students and employs 354 full-time faculty members and 500 staff. Classes are taught in English, and although most faculty members are educated in the West, the atmosphere on campus is vibrantly international with over 80 nationalities represented in the student body. A fundamental goal in all programs is the integration of liberal learning with focused professional studies and, from its founding, academic excellence has been a hallmark of the University.

AUS is accredited in the United States by the Commission on Higher Education of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools. All undergraduate engineering programs are accredited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology (ABET). The School of Business and Management is accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB), and The College of Architecture, Art and Design is the only architecture school outside North America accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB). AUS is also licensed by the Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research of the UAE. Further information about the University can be accessed at www.aus.edu.

Inquiries, nominations and applications are invited. Recruitment is underway and will continue until the position is filled. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by March 1, 2013. Ideally, the new Dean will start in Fall 2013. A full leadership statement is available at www.wittkiewer.com. Candidates should provide a curriculum vitae, a letter of application, and the names and contact information of five references (who will not be contacted without prior approval). These materials should be sent, in confidence, electronically via e-mail to the University's consultants Jane E. Courson and Elizabeth K. Bohan at: AUSharjahCAS@wittkiewer.com. Materials that cannot be emailed may be sent to the consultants at: Witt/Kieffer, 25 Burlington Mall Road, Suite 605, Burlington, MA 01803. They can be reached by phone at (617) 834-8246.

The American University of Sharjah is an equal opportunity employer. Responsibilities include: Teach 2 classes in the English Bridge Program each academic semester;

Recruit, select, supervise, mentor, and evaluate ESL instructors;

Maintain and develop curriculum and pedagogical methods to enable student success in their degree-related courses;

Develop and implement course and program assessment plans;

Support the institutional enrollment management goals for students with limited English proficiency;

Provide consultation to faculty regarding strategies for successful teaching and learning for students with limited English proficiency;

Develop and manage content, budget, and logistics for the intensive Summer English Program;

Coordinate the intensive Summer English Program;

Coordinate co-curricular activities.

Required Qualifications: Master's degree in TESL, TEFL, or related field;

Successful ESL teaching and administrative experience in a post-secondary setting or comparable experience;

Demonstrated ability to lead confidently, thoughtfully, collaboratively, and successfully;

Ability to communicate clearly in English with native-level fluency;
Demonstrated experience developing ESL curriculum and programs;
Planning, analytical, and budgeting skills;
Dedication to student success;
Demonstrated ability to work well with faculty, staff, and students campus wide;
Willingness and ability to perform some evening and weekend work.
Preferred Qualifications: Management experience including supervision, program development, and assessment;
International learning or teaching experience;
Fluency in a language other than English.
SUNY Plattsburgh is an equal opportunity employer, committed to excellence through diversity.
Salary: $48,000 minimum, plus excellent benefits.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Materials received by March 4 will be guaranteed full consideration. Assistant Professor, Catholicism and Literature or Biblical Studies

Apply to this position at <https://secure.interfolio.com/apply/21283>

In order to broaden and deepen its commitment to Catholic scholarship and teaching, DePaul University intends to make a tenure-track appointment at the Assistant Professor level for the academic year 2013–2014.

For this position we seek someone with expertise either in Catholicism and Literature or in contemporary Catholic biblical scholarship.

1. Catholicism and Literature

We welcome applications from persons whose research and teaching engage Catholicism and literature broadly construed; we are open to scholars focusing on American literature, comparative/peoples/world literatures, or combinations/subsets thereof. As an interdisciplinary department, we encourage applications from persons whose work explores Catholic literature (considered by itself or in dialogue with other traditions of Christian literature, e.g., Orthodox Christianity, Protestantism) from a variety of perspectives, disciplines or traditions. Persons able to teach in other programs/departments (e.g., English, creative writing, comparative literature) are encouraged to identify their interests in these areas.

2. Biblical Studies

We welcome applications from scripture scholars who combine advanced research tools and methods with expertise in the history and theology of exegesis in the Catholic tradition. Persons specializing in the Hebrew Bible or New Testament are welcome to apply. We are especially interested in persons whose research and teaching complement the work of an interdisciplinary department and faculty.

The Department of Catholic Studies is an interdisciplinary department (involving historians, theologians, social scientists, humanities scholars and others) committed to high-quality undergraduate teaching both in its major and through the university's Liberal Studies Program. DePaul is the largest Catholic university in the United States, noted for its diverse student body and commitment to community engagement. DePaul is committed to recruiting a diverse faculty to complement the diversity of its student body and Chicago area communities. We encourage members of underrepresented groups to apply.

Please apply online at the following URL: facultyopportunities.depaul.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=51012

Applicants should electronically submit a formal letter of application describing one's present and future research agendas [Cover Letter], a curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness [Teaching Evaluations], a sample of scholarly work [Writing Sample 1], and names of three academic references. The committee will begin reviewing applications on March 7, 2013. Please do not send applications via e-mail. The doctoral degree should be in hand by the time of appointment (September, 2013).

Please direct queries to Dr. Michael Budde, Chair, Department of Catholic Studies, (mbudde@depaul.edu). [R]

The Fellow will work as a catalyst for faculty innovation by planning, promoting, and implementing strategies to encourage faculty discourse about pedagogy, e-learning tools, and the integration of digital media into teaching and scholarship. The postdoctoral fellowship is an academic appointment reporting to the Dean of the College through the faculty chair of the Digital Humanities Advisory Committee, but the Fellow will be housed alongside the Academic Technology staff in the Library and Information Services division. The Fellow will a) teach one or two courses each year within his or her area of academic specialty; b) guide and participate in workshops for arts, humanities, and humanistic social science faculty regarding disciplinary use of digital tools for curricular and research purposes; and c) work with LIS staff to train students to use digital tools and technologies in order to prepare them for significant student-faculty research collaborations. The Fellow will be eligible for internal grants for pedagogical innovation, as well as standard faculty support for travel and professional development. The salary will be $50,000 plus benefits. Dickinson College is a private, highly selective, liberal arts college located within two hours of major research institutions and metropolitan areas.

The Fellow must normally have received the PhD by July 1, 2013, and within the last three years, and not have held a tenure-track position. Candidates should be conducting research that requires demonstrated expertise in the use of Digital Humanities in their scholarly field.

Review of applications will begin on March 8, 2013, and will continue until the position is filled. Please apply to <http://jobs.dickinson.edu> with a letter of interest and CV that includes the names and contact information of three references. Questions may be directed to Christopher Francese, chair of the Digital Humanities Advisory Committee, francese@dickinson.edu.

The College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We encourage applications from all qualified persons. [R]
