Welcome the MLA’s New Director, Paula M. Krebs!
We are delighted to announce that Paula M. Krebs will become the MLA’s next executive director on 1 August. Krebs, dean of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences at Bridgewater State University, will succeed Rosemary G. Feal, who has served as executive director of the MLA since 2002. Learn more.

Browse New MLA Career Resources Online
What can departments do to support PhD students interested in a range of careers? View a new career-planning guide from Connected Academics, and read five Profession essays that offer ideas for reforming PhD programs.

MLA Members Vote on Ratification
In voting that closed on 1 June, members ratified two amendments to the MLA constitution and two resolutions. The amendments and resolutions were approved by the Delegate Assembly at the 2017 convention. Learn more.
Share Your Interests in MLA Forums
Connect with colleagues who share your scholarly and professional interests by choosing up to five primary forum affiliations in My MLA. Forum members will receive regular updates and can vote for forum executive committees.

Interested in Nonprofit Communications? Intern at the MLA!
The MLA is looking for a part-time communications intern to assist with outreach. The position is open to graduate students in the New York area.

Traveling to the Convention from outside the United States?
Live abroad and plan to attend the 2018 convention? Now is a good time to organize your travel documents for your trip to New York.

Help Shape an MLA Volume on Teaching C. P. Cavafy
Contribute to a forthcoming volume on C. P. Cavafy by taking a short survey about your experiences or proposing an essay for inclusion.

Resources

The MLA Style Center  Humanities Commons  Member Discounts  Career Center

CfP: Volume on the 2017 Women’s March, due 30 July

Events

3–7 July: Seminar on genealogies of modernity, Philadelphia, PA
6–8 July: Conf. on reading and writing in the twenty-first-century classroom, Brisbane, Australia
30 July–2 Aug.: University Film and Video Assn. conf., Los Angeles, CA

For more calls and events, browse these resources.

Save 35% on Books
Don’t wait—there are just two weeks left to get 35% off Approaches to Teaching titles with code ATT2017.

Member News

Michael A. Elliott Named Dean at Emory University
Simon Gikandi Receives Humanities Award
Members Named Mellon-ACLS Public Fellows

News